DOUBLE TRAGEDY DUE TO JEALOUSY

Husband Kills His Wife and Then Shoots Himself.

TRAGEDY AFTER QUARREL

When Hotel Room Was Entered Mrs. Corlett Was Dead and Husband Dying—Couple Prominent in Cleveland Society.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 8.—Charles P. Corlett, prominent architect and head of the Corlett Engineering Company, killed his wife, Elizabeth, and then ended his own life in a hotel in Willoughby, a Cleveland suburb, tonight.

The double tragedy is said to have been the result of jealousy. Mr. and Mrs. Corlett were well known in Cleveland society, and for five years have resided in the hotel. Mr. Corlett was in Cleveland most of the time, however, going back and forth two or three times a week.

The couple have had several serious quarrels lately, it is said. Tonight shortly after Corlett returned from Cleveland three shots were heard by the guests. When the hotel proprietor burst in the door he found Mrs. Corlett dead upon the floor. Nearby was the almost lifeless body of her husband. A revolver lay near his outstretched hand. The man died a few minutes later. There was a bullet wound in the dead woman's temple, and another in her breast. The husband had shot himself once in the forehead.

Mr. Corlett was 38 years of age. His wife was four years younger. She was a beautiful woman.

Baby Animals on Parade.

New York, June 8.—Arrangements are being made at the Bronx zoo for the holding one day soon of a baby parade which, it is expected, will be the most interesting thing of the kind ever seen in New York. The participants will be the babies that make their homes in the cages and enclosures of the park. Rehearsals are being held daily for the event.

PRAYERS FAILED TO STOP HANGMAN

650 Prisoners Beseech in Vain for Life of Billik.

PRAYER MEETING IN JAIL

Hundreds of Prison Inmates Join in Prayer for Commutation of Sentence—Billik's Daughter Led With "Oh! God, Please Save My Papa."

Chicago, June 6.—The Cook county jail was transformed into a house of worship for several minutes yesterday, when 650 prisoners joined in prayer asking that the death sentence of Herman Billik be commuted to life imprisonment.

The prayer meeting, without equal in the history of the jail, was entirely unpremeditated. Billik's wife and four children were visiting him. Just before they left his daughter, kneeling near her father, started a prayer.

"Oh! God, please save my papa," she said. Word was quickly passed from tier to tier from the women's ward to the "pen." The building which a few moments before had been filled with coarse laughter and coarser talk, quieted down and even the most hardened criminals there offered up prayer that Billik's life might be spared. Billik himself was apparently cheerful.

"I am confident the Lord will take care of me," he said. "I am innocent of the murder of the Vzral family and I know Father O'Callaghan and others who have worked in my behalf have obtained evidence enough to cause the governor and the pardon board to save me from hanging.

"But if it is decreed that I must die I will walk to the scaffold without fear and will repeat there that I am innocent."

Clemency Refused by Governor.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—Governor Deneen today, on recommendation of the state board of pardons, decided not to interfere in the case of Herman Billik, under death sentence in Chicago for murder. The execution, accordingly, is expected to take place on Friday, June 12.

Billik is the Bohemian fortune-teller whose conviction was declared from the pulpit of St. Mary's church by Rev. P. O'Callaghan to be the result of perjured testimony due to suggestion and intimidation on the part of the prosecuting attorneys and police. The accusation against Billik was that through the agency of a Mrs. Vzral, who afterwards committed suicide, he murdered the woman's husband and four of the Vzral children. The alleged motive was life insurance money. According to the prosecution the method was the use of "medicine" prescribed by the fortune-teller. Largely through the efforts of Father O'Callaghan an affidavit was recently made by one of the principal witnesses against Billik, Jerry Vzral, 18 years old, a survivor of the Vzral family, that the testimony given against Billik by the affiant was wholly untrue.

Billik Breaks Down.

Chicago, June 8.—When the news of the decision of the pardon board and Governor Deneen was taken to Billik he collapsed and cried bitterly.

"Well, if they are going to hang me, let them go ahead," he said, drying his eyes. "I'm ready. I never did believe that they would do anything for me. I've always been unlucky. I don't care so much for myself, but I do care for the sake of my wife and children."

All efforts of Jailer Davies to calm the prisoner met with slight result.

SCHEME TO WEAKEN THE SOUTH IN REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS

Chicago, June 8.—The anti-Taft people today evolved a scheme to prevent southern delegations from hereafter controlling republican conventions. They declare that they will submit it to the convention next week. The idea is identical with the plan proposed in the republican national conventon of 1900 by Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, but which failed of passage at that time. This plan, if adopted, will give to each state four delegates-at-large and one for every 10,000 republican votes cast at the last preceding presidential election.

The effect would be to cut off approximately 160 delegates from the southern states and add approximately 160 to the northern states. All of the northern states would gain excepting Massachusetts and Nevada, the latter being considered as a northern state by the backers of the plan. These lose one delegate each. The states gaining most heavily in representation would be Ohio, which would increase by 17, and Indiana, which would increase by 11.

SHE KILLED MAN TO AVENGE HONOR

Trained Nurse Tells Why She Shot Physician.

ASSAULTED BY THE DOCTOR

Miss Koten Said She Appealed to the Courts, but Could Get No Redress, and Finally Resolved to Kill Auspitz.

New York, June 8.—Sarah Koten, the young trained nurse, who lured Dr. Martin W. Auspitz to a house in Harlem last night by a false telephone call and shot him to death after she had lain in wait for him for many hours, declared today that she had no regret for her act. "I shot him, but I did not murder him," she said in a cell in the police station. "I killed him because he had wronged me and then refused to help me. I tried to punish him in the courts, but found myself powerless. My father and mother are dead, so I had to protect my honor myself."

Wept as She Told Story.

Miss Koten wept as she told her story in coroner's court. She said that she came to America from Russia six months ago and secured a position as nurse in Dr. Auspitz's private hospital last November. Dr. Auspitz, she declared, visited her room in the hospital and assaulted her. When she found that she was to become a mother, she said, the doctor suggested a criminal operation, but she refused to permit and left the hospital.

"I had no friends and no money," said Miss Koten. "As I was very poor and could not get work because of my condition, I procured a lawyer and had Dr. Auspitz brought before the court of general sessions. My witnesses were discredited and everything went his way. After he was acquitted I was advised to go to the district attorney's office. There I saw Assistant District Attorney Krotel, and he told me that inasmuch as the case had been tried, there was nothing more to be done."

Beat Breast With Hands.

Here the young woman broke down and wept, pulled her hair and struck her breast with her hands.

"Then," she continued, "I decided that if I could not get justice in the courts I would be my own avenger. I could have killed him in his own home, but I feared to do that lest I should injure some one else. So I decided to call him into that hallway. I waited and waited and then he came. I fired the shot."

A legal representative of a Hebrew association was in the coroner's court to look after the woman's interest.

Coroner Harburger held Miss Koten without bail to await the inquest on June 15.

WERE GIVEN SIXTY DAYS.

Three Street Railway Employees Held in Contempt of Court.

Pensacola, Fla., June 8.—Three members of the Street Railway Employees' Association were today adjudged guilty of contempt of court by Judge Shepperd, of the United States court, and sentenced to serve sixty days each in the county jail, where they were sent immediately.

They are G. C. McCain, Henry Fillingin and John Maloney. The specific charge was that they violated an order of the court restraining the strikers in the recent street railway trouble from interfering with property of the company. It is charged that the three men attempted to set fire to a trestle of the company in the suburbs, and that they attacked strike-breakers.

NEGROES SEEK TO LYNCH.

Old Negro Man Criminally Assaulted Little Negro Girl.

Mobile, Ala., June 8.—Meager information has reached this city to the effect that Jim Stanford, a negro, 60 years old, about 3 o'clock tonight criminally assaulted Delia Hill, an 8-year-old negro girl, in the woods near her home at Plateau. The girl is reported in a critical condition and horribly malfreated. The report says that Stanford barricaded himself in his own room, defying arrest, with about 200 angry negroes surrounding the house, declaring they will lynch him. The sheriff has just sent out a strong posse to Plateau, about 5 miles from Mobile.

HOSTS OF GRAY ALL RALLYING

Confederate Reunion at Birmingham Will Begin Today.

GREAT CROWDS ARRIVING

Everything in Birmingham Is Overshadowed by the Reunion of Confederate Veterans—Successor to General Lee Being Discussed.

Birmingham, Ala., June 8.—Everything is ready for the opening of the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, which begins in Birmingham tomorrow. The crowds began to arrive earlier than expected, and each of the eighty passenger trains entering the city today carried extra coaches. The visitors were well taken care of, however, and up to this hour no accidents of any kind have been reported. Practically all of the prominent officers of the organization got in today and opened their headquarters. General officers and division commanders have quarters at the various hotels, while state headquarters for the various commands are assigned to various public buildings.

Thus far Atlanta is the only southern city with a delegation on hand working for the next reunion. There is already much rivalry and politics in the air as to the commander to succeed the late General Stephen D. Lee. General Cabell, of the trans-Mississippi department, has the advantage of seniority in rank, but the veterans themselves will have the decision of the question of the most available man to fill the place.

General Clement A. Evans, of Georgia, commander of the department of Tennessee, has some strong workers in the field, who are interesting themselves in his behalf.

All of the visiting officers expressed admiration today at the way in which the city is decorated. They were pleased to see that the city was taking such an interest in an affair so dear to them. Hotel John B. Gordon has already proved itself one of the most popular places in the city. This is the name given to the hotel, which was equipped at the state fair grounds, and it is here that all comers who wish it will be entertained free. A large majority of the veterans have preferred to go there rather than to private homes, because they say it will give them so much better opportunity of meeting their old comrades.

The convention will be called to order tomorrow morning promptly at 10 o'clock by General Harrison, commander of the Alabama division, and will be opened with prayer by the chaplain general, J. William Jones, of Richmond. General Harrison will deliver an address, and Governor B. B. Comer, of Alabama, will welcome the veterans in behalf of the state. Welcome addresses will be made by Mayor Ward, of Birmingham; Brigadier General J. W. Bush, of Camp Hardee, Birmingham; Rufus N. Rhodes, of Camp Morgan-Pettus, Sons of Veterans, Birmingham, and Mrs. Charles G. Brown, president Alabama Daughters of the Confederacy. General W. L. Cabell will assume charge and deliver a response. In the afternoon will occur the addresses of Colonel E. L. Russell, of Mobile, reunion orator, and Judge A. O. Wright, of Jacksonville, Fla., commander of the Confederate Naval Veterans.

There will be band concerts and open air reunions and handshakings in Capital park later in the afternoon, and Governor and Mrs. Comer will give a reception at night. There will be also concerts at the Hippodrome and fireworks at the fair grounds.

MANY CHANGES ARE MADE IN THE SALVATION ARMY

Col. R. E. Holz Will be Succeeded in Southern Division by Col. William Evans.

Colonel R. E. Holz, commandant of the southern division of the Salvation Army, arrived in the city yesterday from Birmingham. He announces several important changes in the army throughout the south.

Colonel Holz has received information that after July 1 his headquarters, now located at Cleveland, will be in Philadelphia, and he will have charge of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina. He will be succeeded in the southern division by Colonel William Evans, of Boston, Mass.

In the Atlanta post of the army Major and Mrs. J. M. Berriman, now in London, England, will report to Colonel Holz in July, at Philadelphia. Adjutant and Mrs. William Crawford will also leave here for Pennsylvania. No information has yet been received from the headquarters in New York as to who will be in charge of the Atlanta post.

Last night a farewell meeting was held at the Congregational church by Colonel Holz. Officers of the army from Macon, Augusta, Chattanooga, Nashville, and other points were in attendance.

ATTEMPT TO BURN CROWDED CHURCH

Torch Applied to Famous Sanctuary in Germany.

1,800 PEOPLE AT WORSHIP

Frightful Panic Prevented by Priests Who Minimized Fire Until the People Could Get Out of the Church.

Berlin, June 8.—An attempt was made today to burn down the old St. Paulus Catholic church at Moabit, belonging to the Dominicans, which was crowded with people assembled to hear a sermon by the famous Dominican monk, Bonaventuri. About eighteen hundred persons were present, including more than a thousand women and children, to hear the mass.

While the congregation was kneeling in silent prayer some one informed Father Bonaventuri that the church was afire. Without alarming the congregation he coolly stepped over to the priest, who was celebrating mass, and requested him to close the service. The priest left the altar and spoke to his six assistants, who walked down the aisles and whispered to the pew holders that an insignificant blaze had broken out, and that they had better leave the building as soon as possible.

At this time the entire roof of the church was a mass of flames, and the fire brigade was hurrying to the burning building. Those in the church, not knowing the extent of the fire, fortunately did not realize their peril, and on the clergy's request made their exit rapidly and in an orderly manner.

When they reached the streets they found the firemen drawn up with ladders against the walls. The fire fighters discovered that nearly a dozen fire brands, soaked with petroleum, had been distributed about various parts of the roof. The flames were extinguished with difficulty after great damage had been done. The police suspect a gang of incendiaries, who, it is said, set fire to the old Garrison church, which was destroyed on April 14 last.

The firemen declare that only the coolness of the clergy today prevented a great disaster.

ACTOR ACCUSED BY YOUNG GIRL

Comedian Raymond Hitchcock on Trial in New York.

HIS ACCUSER TAKES STAND

Helen Von Hagen Tells of Her Visits to the Home of the Actor and of Alleged Wrongs—Affidavit From Girl's Mother.

New York, June 8.—The state's case against Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, now on trial charged with mistreating 15-year-old Helen Von Hagen, moved with expedition today. When the court was adjourned until tomorrow by Recorder Goff, a jury had been selected and the Von Hagen girl had taken the stand and recited the story of her alleged wrongs, which led to the indictment of the comedian.

The jury box was filled within three hours after the opening of the day's proceedings, and Assistant Attorney Garvin presented an outline of the prosecution's case in ten minutes. After several witnesses had been examined, including Mrs. Von Hagen, mother of Helen Von Hagen, who testified on examination that she had signed an affidavit in which she stated that her daughter had never been harmed by the defendant, Helen Von Hagen took the stand to tell the story of her meetings with the actor, and of the alleged occurrences in December, 1906, in a house on West Forty-first street.

The girl rehearsed in detail the story she told when she appeared as a witness against Hitchcock in his former trial on charges based on an alleged assault on Flora Whiston.

The Von Hagen girl told of their meetings with the actor and the visits with Elsie Vorecks, a girl companion to Hitchcock's house in Great Neck, L. I. The witness stated that her visit to Great Neck was without incident, and it was not until she and the Whiston girl met the actor at the house on West Forty-first street that she was mistreated, according to her testimony today. She further testified that the actor made an attempt to assault her and Elsie Vorecks on a later visit to the same house.

FIGHT CEASES IN EXCHANGE.

No Further Attempt to Stop Future Dealing in Cotton.

Baton Rouge, La., June 8.—What amounted to official announcement that the present assembly will make no attempt to abolish the New Orleans cotton exchange was made tonight by Senator Marston, leader of the legislative fight against cotton futures. Senator Marston announced that his faction is willing for the New Orleans exchange to do future business in order to enable farmers to buy futures contracts as a "hedge," that is, as insurance, on their spot dealings.

RAILWAY GIVEN TO A RECEIVER

The Wheeling and Lake Erie Is in Trouble.

$28,000,000 IS INVOLVED

Indebtedness of That Amount Alleged by American Car Wheel Company—E. A. Worthington Is Named for Receiver.

Toledo, Ohio, June 8.—On claims aggregating $8,791,047 due the National Car Wheel Company, of New York, the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad was thrown into the hands of a receiver late into the United States District Judge W. W. Taylor. The petition alleges the total indebtedness of the Wheeling to be upwards of $28,000,000.

B. A. Worthington, of Cleveland, vice president and general manager of the Wheeling, was appointed receiver for the road and immediately qualified by filing a bond of $100,000 furnished by the United Surety Company, of Baltimore.

It is said that the troubles of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road have their foundation in the building of the Pittsburg terminals.

This work was started under President Ramsey, who believed he could put the work through for $16,000,000, but which has already run up to over $40,000,000 with the work still uncompleted. Other matters which are said to have rushed the matter of a receivership are a note of a million dollars due in August and an $8,000,00 mortgage which falls due with a few months with no funds available to meet them.

WERE HELD UP WITH A PICK.

Engineer Captured Three Negroes Charged With Murder.

Roanoke, Va., June 8.—Three negroes, John Woolen, Charles Herring and Thomas Kennan, wanted, at Winston, N. C., for the murder of Peter Denson, also colored, at that place Sunday night, were captured on a Norfolk and Western freight train today by its engineer, J. Edgar Webb.

The engineman discovered the alleged murderers on his train at Rocky Mount, Va., twenty miles south of Roanoke. He held the trio up with a pick and bound them with the bell cord from his locomotive. He brought the negroes to Roanoke, where they were jailed. Woolen admits he fired the shot that killed Denson. Webb formerly was a detective on the Roanoke city police force.

Plot to Blow Up Royal Family.

Lisbon, June 8.—The police have discovered and frustrated a plot hatched by the Society of the Black Cross, to blow up with bombs the members of the royal family at a religious feast which is to be held on June 18. Among the ringleaders arrested are three notorious anarchists.

SAND IS THROWN INTO CYLINDERS OF TAFT MACHINE

It Is Proposed to Compromise Remaining Contests Before the Committee.

MANY COMMITTEEMEN IN FAVOR OF COMPROMISE

Roughshod Methods of Taft Men Causing Bitter Feeling, and the Conservative Leaders Are Anxious to Bring About Harmony.

Chicago, June 8.—A few handfuls of sand were thrown into the cylinders of the Taft political machine late today. So far, everything that has come up has been handled quickly and decisively by the Taft men, but today from their own membership came a proposition to divide the Louisiana delegation with the opposition, seating both Taft and anti-Taft delegations with a half vote each.

The proposition in itself did not come as a surprise, but the number of members of the national committee who favored the movement created some consternation in the Taft camp. The friends of the secretary of war on the committee brought about an adjournment rather than permit a vote to be taken today.

Before the Louisiana case, which involves four delegates-at-large and fourteen district delegates, is brought to a vote tomorrow noses will have to be sharply counted. Members of the committee who have been ardent Taft supporters, but who show a disposition to yield to the appeals from the allied forces to compromise in the interest of harmony, will have been subjected to pressure from Washington. To allow time for this was the purpose of the sudden adjournment today.

No Compromise, Says Hitchcock.

Manager Frank H. Hitchcock announced tonight that there will be no compromise. He is determined to fight for the seating of the delegations instructed for Secretary Taft and declared that he will insist that the committee pass upon all contests. To settle them in any other way, he said, would be unfair to the delegation themselves. He expressed the opinion that the committee should not shirk the responsibility of sitting in judgment on the merits of the contests, and in this view he is supported by practically every committeeman from the west and south and many from the north.

Thus far contests have been settled from the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia and Kentucky, and there has been no division of the committee in disposing of any of them. The reason for this has been the rule which denies a roll call on any question unless it is demanded by twenty members, and the anti-Taft people have not that number on the committee. The suggestion for a division of contesting delegations has become more frequent from day to day. The political maneuvering by such members of the "old guard" as Senators Crane, Scott and Penrose and Committeemen Hart, of Iowa, and Mulvane, of Kansas, has not been without effect.

The growth of the compromise suggestion was noticed by the Taft men, but they were not disturbed by it until late today, when they learned, to their surprise, that the plan for a division in Louisiana was favored by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and General Powell Clayton, of Arkansas.

Taft Men In Conference.

Hasty conferences were held by the Taft members of the committee during the hearing of the Louisiana contest, and the decision was reached that it would be wise to adjourn until they ascertained exactly where they stood. This course was followed. Mr. Hitchcock called up Secretary Taft in Washington. Charles P. Taft, brother of the secretary, did some telephoning and telegraphing on his own account. E. C. Duncan, of North Carolina, and C. A. Lyon, of Texas, and some others, also grew energetic.

What the effect of the many messages will be, cannot be accurately told until after the vote tomorrow. Manager Hitchcock feels that there is far more at stake in the movement for a compromise in Louisiana than appears on the surface. Similar contests are pending from Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. The plea for a compromise in Louisiana is based on the argument that the negro question is involved and that some recognition that would appease the negro voters of the south should be given the Foraker delegation.

In all of the contests mentioned, the issues are involved with the race question. Manager Hitchcock takes the position, however, that all of the Taft delegations are "mixed," there being several negroes on the delegation from each southern state. More than one hundred and fifty delegates are involved in the settlement of these contests from southern states yet to be settled. The Taft men declare that if they make concessions now they may expect further demands. They are determined to prevent the insertion of any opening wedge, if such a thing is possible.

More Votes for Taft.

Sixteen more votes were gained for Taft today by the settlement of contests. Two of these came from Florida, six from Georgia and eight from Kentucky. These were all the contests heard by the committee.

The settlement of the Kentucky cases engendered more ill feeling than has been manifested since the committee began its work. Senator-elect W. O. Bradley, of Kentucky, appeared as counsel for the Fairbanks delegations. The first district was quickly settled, as Mr. Bradley had no personal knowledge of the conditions involved other than the views presented in the brief of the case. The Taft delegates were seated. The fifth district then was taken up. This is the Louisville district, the home of Mr. Bradley. He spoke at length, the time of each side having been extended to twenty-five minutes.

During his speech he made the suggestion that if Taft is nominated, it would be doubtful if he could carry the state of Kentucky, whereupon Clayton Blakey, attorney for the Taft delegation, charged that Mr. Bradley had stumped the state for Fairbanks, making just that sort of argument.

Bradley Denied Charge.

Mr. Bradley denied the charge, and Mr. Blakey replied that he had seen letters written by Mr. Bradley making such claims, and that he had personally received one of the letters. Mr. Bradley was defeated in his case, and declined to continue with the two remaining Kentucky contests. He said that he would carry that to the credentials committee of the convention. The committee promptly seated the Taft delegation.

The effort to secure a division of the committee occurred in the hearing of the contest from the fifth Kentucky district. John W. McCulloch, who holds the proxy of John W. Yerkes, the committeeman from Kentucky, demanded a division on the question of whether the Taft or the Fairbanks delegation should be seated.

Charles H. Scott, of Alabama, responded by rising, and the two appealed in vain for twenty members to rise and be counted. They both stood for a moment, and then sat down.

Calls It a Brace Game.

When Mr. Bradley came out of the committee room he accosted Mr. Hitchcock with the following:

"I'm tired of this brace game you are running. I won't bolt the ticket myself, but I can't speak for Kentucky."

He expressed himself with great bitterness. Mr. Hitchcock smiled as he replied:

"I'm sorry, governor, but I don't see how we could both be pleased."

Representative William B. McKinley, manager of the presidential boom of Joseph G. Cannon, arrived today to take charge of the Cannon forces. Late today he issued a brief statement, in which he said:

"The action of the Taft people on the national committee simply demonstrates the weakness of their statements that they had enough votes to nominate Mr. Taft without the southern delegates or those involved in the contests. Our figures given out the other day are correct, and as the situation now stands, we have every reason to believe that no candidate will have enough to nominate him on the first ballot."

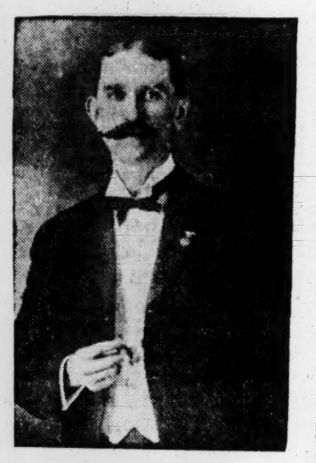

Hitchcock's Methods Approved.

Washington, June 8.—Any doubt that may have existed as to whether the administration and Secretary Taft approve of the methods pursued by Frank Hitchcock, the manager of the Taft interests in Chicago, in dealing with the contesting delegations before the national committee, was set at rest by the dispatch of a telegram today by Secretary Taft to Mr. Hitchcock, directing him to make no change in the methods he is pursuing. President Roosevelt does not conceal his satisfaction at the work being done in Chicago. The administration view is disclosed in the following utterance, which exactly represents not only the views of the president, but of Secretary Taft:

"Now is the time to settle the matter. Those who are falling at Chicago are the very ones who have been making unceasing war on the administration for a long time, and had the tables been turned would have gone the limit of their power to eliminate the Roosevelt influence from the party."

HAPPY OVER ELECTION OF COL. LON LIVINGSTON

Possibly one of the happiest men in Atlanta over the results of the primary on last Thursday is E. Walter Tripp, who acted as secretary for Congressman Lon Livingston in his fight for reelection to the United States congress.

E. WALTER TRIPP.

Mr. Tripp was selected by Colonel Livingston as his campaign secretary early in November, and throughout the exciting race he has been working in all the counties in the district. Since the reelection of Colonel Livingston Mr. Tripp has received many compliments over the way in which he handled the race.

Mile Long Bed of Rhododendrons.

New York, June 8.—A mile-long bed of rhododendrons in Central Park, New York's most beautiful breathing spot, is the recent gift of Mrs. Russell Sage to the people of the city. It is estimated that the gift, which will be known as the Sage plantation, will by the time it is finished, represent an outlay on the part of Mrs. Sage of at least $50,000.

OFFICIALS AND TRAINMEN IN A CONFERENCE TODAY

President Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, yesterday morning wired Assistant Grand Master F. A. Burgess, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and W. C. Clark, third vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, both of whom have been in Atlanta since the latter part of last week, that he would be pleased to receive them in his office in Nashville Wednesday afternoon.

Responding to the message, Mr. Burgess and Mr. Clark left at night for Nashville, leaving Val Fitzpatrick, of the Trainmen's Association, here to look after the conditions at they may appear in this territory.

President Thomas has consistently declined to give Mr. Fitzpatrick, representative of the trainmen, an audience other than a personal one. It was then incumbent upon Mr. Fitzpatrick to issue the call for the strike, which has been on in the yards of that system since that order was issued. He was joined by the officers of the other organizations indicated, both of whom made a careful and thorough investigation. What they found induced them to join hands with the trainmen. It was then they wired President Thomas for an interview, and that interview will take place in President Thomas' office in Nashville in accordance with President Thomas' reply.

Result of Conference.

While neither Mr. Burgess nor Mr. Clark will be able to treat with President Thomas, so far as the strike is concerned, they may be able to pave a way for a conference between President Thomas, of the road, and Mr. Fitzpatrick, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. If that can be accomplished, the management of the road and the head of the trainmen will be brought face to face so that the differences may be thrashed out.

Strikebreakers and non-union men only are working in the yards of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and the movement of freights is not at all satisfactory to the officials of the road in many of the cities touched by the lines.

In Atlanta, however, the trouble is less pronounced than in other cities. Every member of the trainmen's organization in Atlanta has gone out, but as fast as a union man throws up his place, some one appears to take it. Some of these are experienced men, but the greater number are novices in the work. The trains are made up for movement by strikebreakers, and are pulled out by engineers who give that attention necessary to the safety of property and life that may be needed.

The trainmen assert that the yards in Chattanooga, Memphis and Nashville are badly blocked, and that the movement of trains is not easy by any means.

CHARGED WITH STEALING POSTAGE stamps from the office of the Southern railway, in the Equitable building, where he was employed as porter, Alex Henderson, a negro, was bound over by Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon. The railway officials have been missing stamps for several months, and when, on last Saturday, they accused Alex of the crime, that negro immediately repaired hastily to the basement of the building, where he was caught with a large batch of stamps. Glass' store, at 133 Marietta street, Friday night, confessed to the crime, and was bound over by Judge Broyles. Going to a place, indicated by the boy, under a building occupied by the Eagle Manufacturing Company, back of the corner of Marietta and John streets, the officers found, buried in the ground, $18, which had been stolen and hid there by the boy.

THE WEATHER; FAIR, WARMER

Outlook for This Vicinity Is Somewhat to the Good.

The weather: Fair, with rising temperature for today. It is fair generally over the cotton belt, except that rain occurred in Florida. Moderate temperatures prevail in the middle Atlantic states and west of the Rocky mountain region.

THE GOPHER ALSO PAYS ELECTION BETS.

If the lady who wrote the Gopher, asking for the publication of certain weather cartoons will kindly send her name and address her requests shall be granted.

Paying an election bet is oft said to correspond to the payment of interest on a note long past due. It is awful hard to cough up, hardest thing yet is to have to carry a man on one's back. That either takes the cake, or a dose of rheumatism medicine.

The temperature: It is now in the eighties, with a promise of a rise.

CHARLES H. KITTRELL HEADS STATE OPTICAL ASSOCIATION

At the fifth annual session of the State Optical Association, which convened in the assembly hall of the Piedmont hotel yesterday, a resolution was adopted inviting the American Association of Opticians, which is the national association, to consider some southern point, and Atlanta particularly, as a convention place for the 1909 session.

This association has for its members some of the most eminent opticians in the United States, and if Atlanta succeeds in getting the association to convene here the educational value derived from the lectures and association with these men will be great.

The morning session of the association was purely executive. During the afternoon session unusually good papers were read by H. J. Cook, of Knoxville, Tenn., president Tennessee Optical Society, on "State Regulation of Optometry," and by Charles H. Kittrell, of Dublin, Ga., vice president of the Georgia Optical Association, on "The Future of Optometry."

Officers for ensuing year were elected as follows: Charles H. Kittrell, Dublin, Ga., president; Henry J. Godin, Augusta, Ga., vice president; C. E. Folsom, Atlanta, secretary, and M. E. Grimes, of Statesboro, Ga., treasurer.

In night session the following exceedingly interesting scientific addreases were made: "Trial Case Tests, a Discussion of the Different Methods," by Henry J. Godin, of Augusta, Ga.; "The Making of Lenses—How Kryptok and Other Bifocals Are Made, Also Points on Prescription Writing," by John L. Moore; "Frame Fitting. Practical Demonstrations in Face Measurement and Eyeglass Adjustment," by J. H Spratling, of Macon, Ga.; "Symptoms of Dangerous Diseases, Ocular Conditions That the Non-Medical Refractionist Should Recognize," by C. E. Folsom; "Color Vision, a Study in Color Sense, Together With a Few Experiments in Color Blindness," by M. B. Clason, of Columbus, Ga.

ANSLEY PARK LOTS TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Handsome Property on "The Prado" Will Be Sold at Public Outcry Tuesday Afternoon.

Ansley. The auction will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock and all indications point to one of the largest sales in the history of the handsome suburb.

Twenty lots in the most improved part of Ansley Park, fronting on "The Prado" or "Park Boulevard" and beginning at Peachtree Circle, will be placed on the market. The lots have all the modern conveniences and arrangements have been made for city water, sewer, gas, street and sidewalk pavements.

The auction Tuesday afternoon will break all the former records of the property sold at auction in the suburb that has been given the name of "Atlanta's Social and Driving Center."

THE CARS FOR ST. PHILLIP'S SUNDAY school picnic will leave from the corner of Hunter street and Central avenue, near the Catholic church, this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

WORMSER ON THE WARPATH BY ORDERS OF KAVANAUGH

Little Rock, Ark., June 8.—(Special.)—Following on the heels of charges and counter charges in the Southern League of evasion of the player limit and talk of looseness relative to the salary limit, President Kavanaugh today gave instructions to League Auditor Mose Wormser to visit the office of each city in the league and make a microscopic inspection of the clubs' books.

Every item relating to business of the club will be shown the auditor if the instructions issued by President Kavanaugh to heads of clubs are followed out. Hints having reached his ears that the salary limit may have been evaded by smart managers allowing players extraordinary sums for expenses during the spring training season, a strict accounting of this important item will have to be given. Last season it developed that Pitcher Wilhelm, of Birmingham, was getting a "cut" of the club secretary's salary.

The salary paid every employee other than players will have to be shown the auditor. It is probable that players and employees will be called on to make sworn statements regarding the pay they have received, President Kavanaugh being determined there will be no evasion unless perjury is also committed.

You Can't Cure Constipation With a Whip

The cause of constipation is the use of harsh physic.

It begins with the occasional use of salts and harsh pills. They irritate the bowel lining, as shown by the griping and pain.

Then Nature hardens that lining, just as she hardens the skin where you constantly irritate it. The lining—like the skin—becomes calloused. Its natural functions cease.

Then you take physic oftener—then larger doses.

Eventually the bowel lining grows so hard that you have chronic constipation.

"Pills" can't cure that trouble, for they were the cause of it.

You must do now what you should have done at first. Take nothing but Cascarets.

Take one night and morning if the bowels are calloused. But the linings will soon become natural. Then you'll need less.

Before very long, the bowels do all that is necessary. Then you are well.

But the next time the bowels need temporary help, remember not to abuse them.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with C C C on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

Cascarets

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. The month-treatment box 50 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually. 815

THEATERS

At the Grand.

In the presentation of "Prince Karl" the Giffen company has added another to the list of successes marking its stay in Atlanta. For a hot night such as Atlanta is likely to experience just at this season, "Prince Karl" is just about the kind of play to relieve the public and furnish just enough amusement to insure a pleasant evening without making necessary any overworking of the laughter plant.

The story deals with a German prince of high birth who inherited more debts than estates, of his love for an American girl, and of his effort to marry her mother-in-law, whom he thought wealthy, in order to pay his debts. There is also a scheming American lawyer who knows that the girl is really the wealthy one, and on top of all this there turns up a Chicago lawyer, who finds that the bankrupt prince is really the heir to the property in question. To escape the mother-in-law he feigns insanity, to escape the asylum he feigns suicide, and to be near the girl he loves he assumes the place of a menial. Altogether there is a generous assortment of complications which are ridiculous enough to stir the risibles and not intricate enough to cause any deep study on the part of the audience.

As Prince Karl, Emmett Corrigan was seen in a role entirely different from any he has assumed in Atlanta, and he added to his admirers. Herman Lieb, as the ex-bankrupt American and ex-everything else, was hardly so well cast as he has been in other plays, but both he and W. E. Bonney, who acted the innkeeper, put their talent to good effect.

Among the women, Miss Nordstrom, who went on the stage against the advice of her physician, played as if in the best of spirits and no one would have learned of her indisposition from the character of her work. As the mother-in-law Alice Leal Pollock was great.

Altogether "Prince Karl" is worth while and will serve to help Atlanta forget the campaign and the election and furnish a way to spend every evening of the week and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

LAUREN FOREMAN.

At the Casino.

Miss Mabel McKinley was the feature of the performance at the Casino last night. Her rendition of classical and popular songs seemed to have more effect on the audience than any other act in the whole bill. It was after great effort that she was allowed to ring the curtain down. Her program consists of "Il Bacio," by Arditi; "Golden Rod," by Miss McKinley; "Last Rose of Summer," and "Comin Thro' the Rye."

The Takazawa troupe of Japanese, the last number on the bill, is by far the greatest acrobatic feature ever given in this city. There are five Japs in the company, and every one of them is an expert equilibrist, especially the small boy.

There is one number on the program which will be remembered by Atlanta theater-goers, and that is Shrode and Mulvey in "A Theatrical Agency." This is the most comical sketch of its kind ever given in this city, and those who saw it last winter will very quickly remember it when at the Casino.

The other numbers, Pealson, Goldie and Lee, the messenger trio; Owley and Randall, grotesque jugglers; Borani and Navarro, acrobatic comedy, are all good.

At Ponce de Leon.

A visit to Ponce de Leon is getting to be one of the most important incidents in connection with the baseball games at the park every afternoon.

Instead of the usual rush for cars to town, quite a large portion of the fans and "fanlets" and "fanesses" go over to Ponce de Leon, sit in the shade and cool off, take a drink of soda water, perhaps, and ride around on one or more of the devices. Professor Matthiessen's twenty musicians give a concert after each ball game, and this, of course, is quite a feature.

J. W. WHATLEY, OF 315 HIGHLAND avenue, wishes to thank his neighbors who so kindly helped him during his wife's illness and when the shadow of death darkened his home. Mr. Whatley, who is a member of the Atlanta police force, lost his wife a few days ago and he wishes his neighbors to know that he deeply appreciates their many kindnesses.

SPLENDID RECORD MADE BY SHERIFF JOHN NELMS

With the passing from office of Captain John W. Nelms, for nearly twelve years sheriff of Fulton county, there goes from public to private life one of the most extensively known, popular and highly appreciated officials who has ever served state or county.

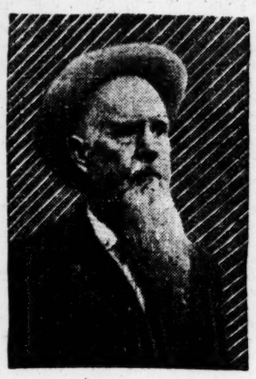

A self-made man, a man full of energy of body and mind, a man full of courage—always brave and ever honest—a man of truth, his word being as good as his bond, a man in whom the whole people had confidence and a man who had confidence in all the people, has John W. Nelms ever been.

Of a happy, cheery disposition, never despondent or blue, but ever smiling and happy, he made friends of all with whom he came in contact. Asking the people for their confidence he gave the people his confidence in return, and never were the people deceived. Knowing the fate of politics, while he had expected a victory, his generous heart and manly courage accept the decree of the voters pleasantly and without the slightest ill will towards any one. A fair fighter, he recognizes a clear defeat, and has expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the result.

Sheriff Nelms Talks.

"Words cannot express the gratitude there is in my heart," said he, "to the people of Fulton county, the city of Atlanta and the state of Georgia. It is more than gratifying to realize that I have been able in my official life of eleven and one-half years to retain their complete and absolute confidence. And I'm proud to say that I have left for their observation a record that has never been equalled, not even approximated, by any one before I came into office. During my incumbency I have handled thirty thousand prisoners, and today every one except two can be accounted for. If that record has ever been touched in the entire nation I've yet to be told of it.

"Then during my incumbency I've received and disbursed hundreds of thousands of dollars of trust money. Every penny paid out can be clearly and unquestionably shown, while that not disbursed is in bank subject to any successor or to any order of the court. I love the people of Fulton county just as dearly today as I did the day they placed their first confidence in me. They have always been kind and obliging to me, and I have used my best efforts to discharge the trust and the confidence they have reposed in me.

Sheriff of Fulton County.

"I sincerely hope and trust, in the interest of the people at large, that my successors may be able to follow the pattern I set, and really, if possible, improve the service I have given the people since I became sheriff of Fulton county. However, I shall lose no sleep for fear they will surpass that record. Again thanking the people for the confidence extended me I want to add that I stand ready at all times to do their bidding in any way they may ask."

BRILLIANT PAPER READ BY MRS. LONGSTREET

Her Remarks Before R. F. D. Carriers' Convention at Gainesville Highly Complimented.

Gainesville, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The most notable convention in the history of the Association of Rural Free Delivery Carriers of the ninth congressional district, was held in this city on Decoration day. There was a large attendance from all parts of the district.

Hon. P. V. DeGraw, fourth assistant postmaster general, conveyed his greetings to the association in a very able and cordial letter, which was read by Mrs. Longstreet, the Gainesville postmistress, and received by the carriers with marked enthusiasm.

Hon. Fletcher M. Johnson and Hon. W. B. Sloan delivered short addresses, which were gems of wit and eloquence.

Upon special invitation of the association Mrs. Longstreet, as postmistress at one of the largest rural free delivery offices in the country, read a paper on the establishment and development of the rural service. The paper was unusually brilliant, and was listened to with profound interest. Among many other felicitous things Mrs. Longstreet said:

The work of the rural carrier of this country in bettering the farmer's condition is one of transcendant importance. By the result of his service the farmer becomes a wiser, happier and more patriotic citizen and the government thereby gains in strength.

You carriers of this old ninth district of Georgia should be inspired to more efficient effort by the knowledge that your work brings you into close touch with your government and into it you may put your strength of citizenship and your pride of country. The obligation is strong upon you to keep the service clean and above reproach. In taking up your great work as rural carriers when you subscribed your names to the oath of allegiance to support the constitution of your country and defend its principles there was committed to your keeping the noblest heritage ever vouchsafed to free men. The honor of Old Glory became yours to uphold—Old Glory, token of human liberties wherever it waves on land or sea—may God keep it forever in the skies! You carriers of this district have much to be proud of. Proud that you are Americans and live in the happiest age of the world. Proud that you are engaged in the rural service in its present high state of development. Proud that it has been your privilege to serve under the very greatest administration, in many respects, that has marked the progressive course of this nation. Proud that you are in the service while the old flag has been placed higher in the heavens, symbol of peace and progress, by our bold, aggressive yankee president, son of a Georgia woman, growing to the full stature of unafraid manhood on the broad plains of the west and belonging more truly to the whole country than any prestrent who has gone before him. Proud that you are in the service while the prince of "square dealers" has placed the old flag higher in the heavens, pledge that the patriot's dream of liberty shall live, its white stripe breathing righteousness, its red stripe breathing the brotherhood of man and every star in the blue of its ground speaking the peace, prosperity and happiness of the greatest nation the sun has risen on since God said, "Let there be light"—our republic, glorious, triumphant, unconquerable—may God save it in strength and splendor."

MANY HIGH HONORS WON BY WM. F. SLATON, JR.

Young Atlantan Distinguishes Himself in Three Classes at the University of Georgia.

High honors have been paid William F. Slaton, Jr., of Atlanta, and his many friends in the city feel justly proud of this young son of the head of Atlanta's public schools, William M. Slaton.

After one of the finest records ever made in the city's public schools, William F. Slaton, Jr., won many honors

WILLIAM F. SLATON, JR.,
He Won Many Honors at University of Georgia.

at the University of Georgia, the last and best of which was the recent winning of one of two places as senior orator in the academic department. Young Slaton began his scholastic career in the grammar schools of the city, and stood high in all of the eight grades. He took the three years' course in the Boys' High school, where he distinguished himself by winning many honors as a writer, an orator and a scholar.

At the University of Georgia, in the sophomore class, he won a place as commencement orator. In the junior class he won an orator's place in a competition for original oration, and also won a $50 gold prize for the best essay on psychology.

In the senior class this year he was selected as the anniversarian of the Demosthenian society and in a very warm contest was chosen as president of that Society.

He is first lieutenant of his company at the university.

All of these distinguished honors reached a climax this year by his winning a place as senior orator when only two were to be chosen.

A bright future awaits this young Atlantan, who, in his collegiate career, has brought credit to himself and the city of his birth.

HOTEL ST. REGIS, NEW YORK

A Famous Kitchen

MODERATE RATES

The kitchen of one's favorite hotel or restaurant is in reality its most important department. Many of these places where food is prepared will not bear close inspection and one prefers to eat in ignorance, feeling that a knowledge of actual conditions might spoil the appetite.

A visit to the kitchen of Hotel St. Regis, New York's most famous living and dining establishment, is worth the while of anyone who appreciates cleanliness and wholesomeness. This series of great white-tiled, marble-floored halls, which Mr. Haan, the proprietor of the St. Regis, calls "The Soul" of his hotel, may be called "a kitchen," but it is fit and fine enough for a banquet hall. It will bear the closest inspection, for it is scrupulously clean and perfectly ventilated. The small army of cooks and assistants who here evolve and create the tempting foods which have made the St. Regis restaurant famous are in harmony with their surroundings and the edibles provided there under the watchful eye of Chef Bailly are such as royalty might partake of with delight.

What is true of the St. Regis kitchen is true of every part of this matchless hotel. And yet the cost of living is comparatively reasonable. The restaurant charges are those standard in the best hotels, while a beautiful outside room may be had for $4 a day, or one with private bath for $5 ($6 for two people). The rates for a parlor, bedroom and bath are $12 and upward.

EFFORT MADE TO DISBAR.

Trial at Columbia, S. C., of John T. Duncan.

Columbia, S. C., June 8.—(Special.)—The supreme court room was crowded this morning when the case of John T. Duncan, an attorney of this city, was called to show cause why he should not be disbarred for alleged false affidavits issued in the case of Jesse Hunter.

Duncan's attorney, O. L. Schumpert, of Newberry, commenced the reading of his return, which gave first the text of the rule and about the circumstances under which the two affidavits alleged to be false and fictitious were taken, claiming that Duncan had not perjured himself nor been in contempt of court.

Attorney General Lyon, representing the state, tried to introduce new details in the case regarding Duncan's censure of Solicitor Timmerman. Schumpert objected and the judges consulted to decide the position that the new evidence turned to the case.

O acount of the relationship of Justice Gary to the defendant, it was decided to have another man learned in the law to sit with the court at a future date to decide this point, and July 15 was set, and the Duncan case, which has attracted such widespread attention, will then be tried to a conclusion. Duncan opposed ex-Governor John Gary Evans for the United States senate in 1897.

AUCTION SALE---ANSLEY PARK
TODAY AT 3:30 P. M.

As Forrest Adair says, I am doing in this instance what I have done all the way through in my development of Ansley Park, viz.: Selling my lots before I have completed all the improvements I have contracted for, and thus discounting my own profits and giving the purchasers a certain chance to make a profit on the lots they buy; but in this instance I am probably making a mistake in three ways.

SPENDING $55,000 IN THIS SECTION OF PARK.

First, in not letting Mr. S. Z. Ruff complete his contract for $55,000 of improvements in this particular part of the Park, which contemplates making each of the undeveloped lots and lawns as attractive as the handsomest ones now on Peachtree street, and which means to almost double the value of every lot in this section of the Park—particularly so when the new driveways are opened and paved, shade trees planted on the sidewalks, and all modern conveniences to make them attractive and useful provided, and with a Golf Course and new Club House immediately adjoining them.

PAVING THE PRADO.

Second, the County Commissioners passed up the Prado from Peachtree Circle to Piedmont Park, to be paved during 1907, and based on that I sold the lots on the Prado from its junction with Westminster Drive to Piedmont avenue, with a guarantee that it would be done during 1907, but because of the press of other matters they did not get to it, and I had to put that pavement down. Their paving plant has been located at the junction of South and East Prado since March, with the understanding that when the new Bitulithic pavement is laid on Peachtree from Sixth street to the city limits north of Fifteenth street, they will pave the Prado from Westminster to Peachtree Circle, and as I now guarantee pavement on this part of the Prado within twelve months, in addition to their promise to pave it this summer, the public will take no chances and I stand the loss from not having the pavement on the street now, as the buying public are all "from Missouri" and have to be shown the thing itself, and not a promise, or else they discount the promise to suit themselves, even if it has a bond behind it.

STREET CAR LINE ON THE PRADO.

Third, Mr. Adair says he believes the Street Car Company will be compelled within twelve months to extend its Piedmont avenue line from the Driving Club to the Prado, and thence along the Prado and Peachtree Circle to Peachtree street, as there will be such a strong demand for this line. It would tend to relieve the present congestion on the Peachtree line, it would serve the north end of Piedmont Park, which the city is preparing to develop this year, and will prove its most attractive pleasure ride, particularly after I have perfected the organization of the Golf Club, in which I will not only want their cooperation but that of every resident of North Atlanta, as I am preparing to build it not only for the benefit of Ansley Park residents, but for theirs also, and think I am entitled to their support and cooperation.

I had a little fun with the Superintendent of Transportation of the Street Car Company lately. He and Forrest Adair were standing on the corner of Whitehall and Alabama, and I walked up and told him I wanted the Company to extend its Piedmont avenue line as above indicated. When he told me he would operate the line if I would build and maintain it, I asked how long. He said 99 years, and I said, "You have made a trade; let's go to the office and sign it up." But after going to my office, and finding out from Mr. Ruff that it would be an inexpensive matter to build the line, and as I insisted that I was to get my proportion of all fares that passed over this part of the line, he backed out, as he saw he had made a bad trade. I then told him I only wanted to prove to him that it would be a paying proposition from the beginning, and that I was willing to pay an equitable proportion of the cost in order to secure the line any time within twelve months. They have the matter under advisement now, but I cannot guarantee yet within what time they will build this line.

ENCOURAGE FOREIGN CAPITAL.

Differing with Seab Wright, I hold that the $10 per share advance on Georgia Railway & Electric Co. stock, as a result of the recent election, will benefit employes as well as stockholders. What helps one, helps the other. Bankruptcy would ruin both. In prosperity both will thrive.

Mr. Atkinson should be thanked for every dollar of foreign capital he has brought to Georgia, and every one else that brings any, and every capitalist, no matter who he is, Standard Oil, Railroad Magnate or any one else, who wishes to make an investment in our State should be assured by every individual, and by the duly elected officials of the State, that every dollar they invest here will be protected just as the interests of our own citizens are, for when they make investments here their interests become one with ours in the development of the State, and the more money they make, the more they themselves will put into the State, and the more they will induce others to put in.

Mr. Brown has always been a conservative man, and the recent election sets Georgia right before the Investing Public, and proves that Georgia is in favor of BUILDING UP, and not TEARING DOWN, and also in letting every man attend to his own business as he sees fit, and that all the "Theorists" will have to "go away back and sit down." Georgia business men now invite the capital of the world not only to come in and get 5 per cent and 6 per cent on bonds in the use of their money in developing our wonderful resources, but also share through common stock in part of the additional values they create in developing our resources.

I have pledged my life to the development of the South, and am against any man whose policies I believe do it harm, and in favor of, and stand ready to help, any one who is trying to build up the South.

Our city and all our industrial enterprises are just in their infancy, and I see nothing but signs of good times ahead of us, but I do hope the democrats will nominate a business man in place of a THEORIST at Denver, as the business interests of our country need to be let alone and not interfered with, as confidence is all that is needed to make times better than they have ever been. Politicians waving the red flag kept millions of dollars and thousands of good citizens out of the South before the Spanish-American war, and politicians and anti-corporation legislation are keeping millions out of Missouri, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and North Carolina today, and will continue to do so until they change their present methods.

I have shown my confidence in Ansley Park by paying $228,000 for the interests of my associates in the Park, paying Mr. Inman back his $250,000 and 7 per cent interest, that he advanced to help finance the purchase of the Park, and recently buying his 25 acres at a handsome figure, and making a contract to spend $55,000 in developing it, after having already spent nearly $200,000 in developing the Park, and in leaving practically all my profit in the unsold portion of the Park.

But believing that an appreciative public wants a place to "ride," a place to "motor," a place to play "tennis," a place to play "golf," a place to get good, wholesome air for themselves and their families, and a place to rest, I have tried to provide all these things in Ansley Park, and I will have to abide by the prices the public will give me for my lots at today's Auction Sale.

CRACKERS FINISH AHEAD BY ONE RUN

HARD FIGHTING LANDED GAME

Eastman Had Us Kodaked for Seven Silent Rounds.

Little Rock Was One to the Good When Things Began to Break Our Way, and When the Eighth Was Over We Had It.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

Little Rock in Atlanta. Ponce de Leon Park. Game called at 4 o'clock.
New Orleans in Birmingham.
Memphis in Montgomery.
Mobile in Nashville.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Atlanta 2, Little Rock 1.
Memphis 6, Montgomery 2.
Nashville 8, Mobile 1.
New Orleans 3, Birmingham 1. Eleven innings.

There is a great deal to this dope about sticking to the guns until the old ship blows up beneath and furnishes a seven-course dinner, wealthy water and all, for the little fishes. For sometimes she fails to blow. Big Eastman, the Indian pitcher, for seven innings yesterday had us in a fair way to yelp for help, but by grimly fighting to the last ditch, the Crackers waded in when all seemed off and beat the Little Rocks 2 to 1. Very much to the whisker, but nevertheless—

For those seven silent rounds one could ascertain the sound of a pin as it bumped into the floor of the grand stand and on several occasions the noise was like to that of two locomotives colliding.

But the brave hearts rallied when the time came, which was in the eighth, with Jim Fox paving the way by getting safe on Connors' miscue. Castleton hit to pitcher and the Kodak tried to snuff Jim at second, but everybody was safe. Whereupon Wilkes dropped a neat bunt that advanced both runners. Moran came up and Eastman took four time exposures that were a mile wide. He walked Mory purposely. Why? The echo will answer, for Winters, the reliable knight of the punch, came to bat, and as was expected, cracked a single to left that counted Fox with the run that drew us alongside of the enemy, who had tallied one in the second—the one that looked as if it would win the game for so long a time.

Becker was next, and produced a sacrifice fly that put Castleton over with the winning run and shoved both the remaining base runners. Jordan hit a hot one to third that Hess made a good job of and the rally was over.

Finns Scored in Second.

The hits were evenly divided, each team getting six. By clustering two of their total the Rockies got the run in the second, Connors singling, Wood aiding him with an infield out and Stark laminating a drive to right that did the work.

The double play that retired the Finns after all this is worth noting. Jim Fox never worked faster than he did when handling Hess' grounder, and Wilkes was the goods at the other end. Stark was extinguished at second and the other at first.

The game brought forth the most sensational catch that has ever cropped out in local baseball, with Moran as the performer. The work was not that of an infant. Eastman rapped one to left in the sixth that he should be given a bit for. Moran flagged it on a dead run that brought him to a standstill almost in right field, the having taken the ball while he was tied up in a knot with his gloved hand sticking under his right leg. It was fortunate that the gloved one came in contact with the ball—it set it ablaze as it was.

Becker also made a gallant effort on Stark's hit in the ninth. He got it off his shoe strings up near the base line, and juggled it for several minutes before giving up in despair. The ordinary kind would never have laid paws on it.

Jordan was another to work hard for victory. If he had not been endowed with unusual foresight he would never have been behind Wilkes when he tried to double Colins in the third and pulled off a wild heave through Fox that Jordan picked up with one hand.

We had a great chance to score in the third, but overlooked it. Moran singled and Winters followed him with a hit that put him to third, all of this coming with two down. But Moran was caught off third when Winters went down to second, the leftfielder making a near pass at a double steal.

The ninth was not without interest. The home team was only one to the good and Collins singled. Speaker sacrificed him and he took third on Page's out, but Castleton was strong in the pinch and fanned East.

OLYMPIC TEAM HAS BEEN NAMED

Seventy-Six Men Chosen by the Committee.

Team Represents Pick of Athletes in the United States and Will Worthily Bear the Colors of the Country in London.

New York, June 8.—To represent the United States in the Olympic games which will be held in London next month, seventy-six men, the pick of the country's athletes, were tonight selected as the American team by the American Olympic team committee at a meeting in the Astor house.

The committee, with its unlimited range of selection, picked what is believed will be a team of track and field men that will bear the American colors worthily.

Dearborn, McGrath, Rose, Sheridan and Coe are some of those selected to complete in the heavyweight and discus events. Sheppard, at middle distance, Hillman for the hurdles and Ewey in the high and broad ump, are some of the other selections which are regarded as safe event winners for the team.

While the team selected tonight will be the main reliance of America in the various events to be contested, the committee has also formulated a supplementary list of athletes, including the more promising of the younger element, which may be drawn upon to complete the entry list in some of the events. Tonight's list, however, is likely to be the guide of the committee in making up the entries for the various events, which will be announced in detail tomorrow.

Following is the selected list:

Resolutions passed by the executive committee of the American committee after the selection of the teams made it plain that the men on the selected list as given are those whose places as members of the team with expenses defrayed by the committee, are assured. The sending of athletes from the supplemental list, the committee states, is dependent upon the subscription of further funds for the specific purpose of sending one or more of the men there named.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 8.—Today's game was never in doubt, Jacksonville making three runs in the first inning as the result of a base on balls to Chandler, an error by Valdois, a sacrifice by Taaffee and a two-base hit by Mullaney. The game was not interesting. Score:

Charleston, S. C., June 8.—Charleston and Savannah battled on the field for two hours and a half this afternoon and the game finally ended in a tie, being called after the sixteenth inning on account of darkness. The visitors had the game by two runs up to the ninth and in this inning, with two men down and two on bases, Durlin bunted and Keiber slipped as he got the ball, and then threw wild to first, allowing two men to cross the plate and tieing the score. No more runs were made. The game was one of the best exhibitions seen here this season, and many brilliant plays were pulled off by both sides. Hixon relieved Keiber in the thirteenth inning. Score:

DAY IS NAMED FOR THE PROBE

Little Rock, Ark., June 8.—(Special.)—At 9 a. m. Thursday, June 18, the board of directors of the Southern League will meet at Hotel Gayoso, Memphis, to sit in judgment on the case of Babb vs. Stockdale, the case growing out of recent charges made by Otis Stockdale, Mobile pitcher and former pitcher of Memphis, in 1907, who, it is alleged, made charges that Charley Babb, manager of the Memphis Baseball Club, threw games in 1907 in order that Atlanta might win the pennant.

William Kavanaugh, president of the league, and member of the board ex-officio, W. T. Crawford, vice president, interested in the Mobile club and resident of Shreveport, La., F. P. Coleman of Memphis, R. H. Baugh of Birmingham, W. R. Joyner of Atlanta, and H. C. Rather of Little Rock, compose the board of directors.

Walter Taylor and P. H. Whiting, of Atlanta, newspaper men, who heard Stockdale make his charges in Atlanta, and G. W. Byrne, a baseball writer, who was with the Memphis club at the deciding series in Atlanta last season, have been summoned as witnesses. Other witnesses may be called in at the request of either side.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The Crackers have two games more with Little Rock, and then the bugs will have a bird's eye view of the combined major and minor forces representing New Orleans. The event is well worth the awaiting.

As southpaws have made such good showings against the present enemy they will be in order for the rest of the series. Johns handled the Little Rock people during his sojourn Saturday. Castleton had them yesterday, and Schopp will try it today. Johns will probably be on the hill in the last game.

Two games have gone, and still the Travelers look mighty good. From the way Finn's collection exudes the national pastime, there is some wonder attached to their present position in the race. If they swing to the stride they have set here, crawling out should be their lot.

Jim Fox should join a circus. He got away with a triple somersault in the eighth, and bobbed up gamely and went the full route. After seeing him whirl thrice rapidly in the ether, alight on his left ear, and lay in a curled up heap, it was thought an ambulance call would be in order. But Jim survived. John Robinson and others please write. It was when he got to first on an error and tripped on the bag.

One base on balls sizes up the control Castleton had. Eastman, too, escaped with the same number, and the one he delivered appeared to be executed with malice aforethought.

Joey Collins did well yesterday in the hitting department. He got off with three out of four times, showing that players once with Atlanta can produce when playing here.

Five of the six hits the home guard got came from the top of the list. Moran found Eastman twice and G. Winters thrice. Winters' average this season promises to be a thing of beauty.

Eastman was the lucky guy. While the Crackers punched him safely but six times, there were many drives that went right into fielder's hands, when a little further to the left or right would have totaled up more against the Little Rock slabman. It's hard luck to have line drives go straight into a fielder's hands when they are so fast he couldn't get to them if they were but a yard removed.

LaGrange Is Winner.

LaGrange, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—In a close and interesting game this afternoon LaGrange defeated East Point by the score of 4 to 3. The game was interesting from start to finish. One of the features was the pitching of Dye, who allowed only three hits. Nelson gave up seven hits and pitched a steady game. Struck out, by Dye 3, by Nelson 9. Batteries: East Point, Dye and Adams; for LaGrange, Nelson and Farris. Two more games Tuesday and Wednesday.

THAT $10,000 WAS REALLY UP

So Says Man Who Called Offer an Election Fake.

That $10,000 which W. R. Frier and J. S. Jordan, of Broxton, offered to bet on the election of Hon. Joseph M. Brown, and which was pronounced a fake by The Atlanta Journal the day before the primary, was not a fake after all, according to T. M. Cheatham, the man on whose authority a statement was sent to The Journal from Douglas declaring that this amount had never been put up.

This bet figured in local politics quite largely during the last days of the campaign. Mr. Cheatham now says that he thought the offer a fake, but he has been shown that he was wrong, and he sets the matter right in the following printed in The Journal yesterday:

HAD THAT $10,000 TO BET ON BROWN.

To The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.: I have been shown deposit slip signed by cashier of a Broxton bank showing that Messrs. Frier and Jordan did have $10,000 to bet on Hon. Joseph M. Brown. When Colonel Dickerson, of Douglas, asked me over the phone if it were true that they had it for that purpose, it being on the eve of the election, I naturally supposed it a campaign stunt of the Brown forces and thought I knew enough to prove it, but upon investigation I find that they really had the goods, so I ask you to give this statement prominence as a matter of simple justice to all parties concerned.

A. B. & A. SOON READY FOR ATLANTA ENTRY

First Vice President P. S. Arkwright, of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, was yesterday advised by General Manager Alex Bonnyman that physical crossing of the Southern railway tracks and a connection with the tracks of the Western and Atlantic railroad at Bellwood avenue were practically completed, and that all would be in readiness for the entry of the new road into the old union depot any time after two weeks.

Mr. Arkwright then held a conference with Mr. Bonnyman and General Passenger Agent W. H. Leahy, hoping to arrive at some definite date on which service could be inaugurated. Mr. Leahy and Mr. Bonnyman told Mr. Arkwright that some time would be required in which to arrange a schedule and determine whether daily, double daily, limited or local service would be supplied.

Mr. Arkwright will, during the day, take the matter up with President H. M. Atkinson, who returned to Atlanta Sunday night from Boston and New York, where he had been on financial matters. President Atkinson will have the final word in determining the date of service.

Mr. Atkinson was optimistic as to the future of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic. It is stated that he has recently decided to push to a rapid completion all of his plans of construction, having Atlanta, Birmingham and Brunswick connected by a short line to the sea not later than September 16.

Western and Atlantic Must Answer to Railroad Commission.

The Georgia railroad commission has called upon the Western and Atlantic railroad to appear before their body on June 10 and answer to the charge that on last Friday it ran a train without brakeman, flagman or baggagemaster, the conductor performing all these functions.

The following official order was sent out by Chairman McLendon:

Whereas, It is represented to the railroad commission of Georgia that the Western and Atlntic railroad did on June 5, 1908, run its train as per the published schedules of that company known as "No. 2," on which there was no brakeman, no flagman and no baggagemaster, the duties of these several train employees having been performed by the conductor, and it being further brought to the attention of the railroad commission of Georgia that no passenger train can be operated with safety to passengers where the conductor, in addition to the necessary duties of his position, is compelled to do the work usually performed on passenger trains by three other persons, it is therefore

Ordered, That the Western and Atlantic railroad appear before the railroad commission of Georgia on Wednesday, June 10, 1908, at 10 a. m. and show,

First. Whether said train was operated as is alleged without brakeman, flagman or baggagemaster, and whether other passenger trains have been or are now being operated in like dangerous manner.

Second. Said Western and Atlantic Railroad Company shall at the same time show cause why this commission should not adopt a rule prescribing the number and character of employees who shall serve all trains carrying passengers.

By order of the board.

SEVENTY-FIVE BOOK AGENTS

Are in Montgomery to File Bids Before Committee.

Montgomery, Ala., June 8.—Seventy-five book agents, representing about fifty publishing houses in New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta and other cities are here today to file bids for the school book contracts to be let soon. All the books for the Alabama schools are to be contracted for for five years and the value of them will be several hundred thousand dollars. As the people generally complain much about changes, it is anticipated that as many of the books now in use will be retained as possible.

Though bids were filed today, the committee will not assemble until Friday, and will then take probably two or three weeks to get the contracts made. As agents are not allowed to talk to members of the commission, the representatives are taking it easy, waiting for the sessions of the commission, when they can say enough to make up for lost time.

SEED CRUSHERS IN CONVENTION

A Number of Interesting Addresses Were Made at the Meeting.

Atlantic Beach, Fla., June 8.—Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the state college of agriculture at Athens, delivered the principal address at the opening session of the fourth annual convention of the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association of Georgia at the Continental hotel today. There are 250 Georgians in attendance, and the convention promises to be the most successful in its history.

Dr. Soule took as his theme, "The Relation of Cotton Seed to the Economic Development of the South." He went into this subject thoroughly and declared if the cotton oil men would cooperate with the state college of agriculture on the subject of cultivating to a higher point of development of cotton seed, it would be possible in ten years to secure 5 gallons more of oil and a proportionate increase in the amount of seed meal from a ton of seed over what is now extracted.

Mayor W. H. Sebring, of Jacksonville, delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by L. A. Ransom, of Atlanta.

President M. S. Harper, of Atlanta, formally opened the convention, and the business of the session was taken up. The address of the president and Secretary Fielding Wallace aroused the greatest interest.

The afternoon session was taken up by short addresses by Hon. B. H. Rawl, chief of the bureau of animal industry at Washington, on "The True Feeding Value of Cotton Seed Meal." A. P. Coles, cashier of the Central Bank and Trust Corporation, Atlanta, spoke on "Transportation and Exchange;" J. L. Benton, former government expert abroad, on "Relative Methods Employed in Handling Cotton and Cotton Seed Abroad," and J. H. Fulford, of Dawson, on "Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls as Horse Feed."

The session was completed with the report of Fielding Wallace as chairman of the publicity committee and that of its manager.

Address of President Harper.

After congratulating the association upon its selection of officers, President Harper took up the work of the publicity bureau, which was organized for the purpose of educating the people of the south to the uses and benefits to be derived from the use of cotton seed by-products—cotton seed oil as a condiment, cooking oil and medicine, cotton seed meal as a fertilizer and cotton seed meal and hulls as a cattle feed, and attributed the increased demand for these products to the work of this bureau. He asked the members of the association to take up this work personally and urge their neighbors and customers to use these by-products.

He next took up the composition contest which was instituted by this association, wherein $100 in gold was distributed on June 1 in four prizes among the school children of Georgia for the best composition on the value and uses of cotton seed by-products. It was estimated by him that 12,000 compositions were written and over 50,000 people brought into contact with this subject during their preparation.

He laid special emphasis upon the educational train, known as the "college on wheels," which was sent out on a tour of Georgia during the spring months by the agricultural college of the University of Georgia. On this train there was constantly a member of the association, who lectured on the benefits to be derived from the uses of the cotton seed by-products.

The rules committee of this association was highly complimented and congratulated in view of the fact that the changes suggested by this committee were adopted in toto by the interstate committee on rules. In speaking of the membership of the association, President Harper said that out of 140 mills in the state 132 are members and the association now has over 209 enrolled and active members.

The report of Secretary Wallace was read, showing the great increase in the membership of this association since its meeting last year. An increase from 168 to 209 members was shown, which gives the Georgia association the largest state membership in the south, even surpassing Texas. He congratulated the association upon having the largest attendance at the recent interstate meeting at Louisville, and declared the Georgia association to be the leading association in the great organization. He concluded his report by quoting a letter of congratulations extended to the association by Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson.

The trial is set for tomorrow.

PRICE OF BEEF WILL GO HIGHER

Packers Announce There Is a Shortage of Cattle.

Chicago, June 8.—It was announced today by the Chicago packers that because of a "shortage of cattle and of canned meats, the price of beef and of canned meats will be increased." An official of Armour & Company in explaining the situation, said today:

"There will not be a great advance in prices, but there will be some. There is a shortage of cattle, but we do not expect it to last long. There is also a shortage of canned meats, but it will not be necessary to bring back some of the meats we have already shipped to Europe. The increase will be between 1 and 2 cents a pound."

Killed by a Practical Joke.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 8.—A victim of practical jokers, Morris Caseberg, 22 years old, died today at a hospital. He had been employed at the Duquesne Steel Works. It is alleged fellow-workmen inflated his body by compressed air, causing peritonitis. An investigation is being made.

Union Pacific Bond Issue.

New York, June 8.—The board of directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at a meeting today ratified the issue of $50,000,000 first lien and refunding mortgage 4 per cent bonds.

Lo! the watermelon!

The straw bonnet supersedes the straw ballot.

There are a good many buttons for rent in Georgia.

Georgia's election bids fair to become a national issue.

It's a pretty good old motto the forefathers gave this state.

The moonshiners are now half-shooting a good many summer resorters.

Can you imagine leap year in a state with the Mormon religion in full swing?

All the widows that wear them are not merry, but they will be if the man says "yes."

The question of "How old is Ann?" is not half as maddening as, "Will he strike out?"

No, Cholly; all the girls patronizing the dressmaker these days are not June brides-elect.

Housewives who have difficulty in keeping cooks look with illy-disguised favor on the peonage system.

To be logical, the movement to abolish stamping grounds for flies should extend to the bald-headed row.

What Atlanta needs is to demonstrate some of the jingo spirit toward the vagrant flies and mosquitoes.

When anybody calls it a "do-nothing congress," Uncle Joe Cannon "points with pride" to the empty pork-barrel.

The G. O. P. in the act of revising the tariff is reminiscent of Mephistopheles reforming the nether regions.

People who live in the mountains of north Georgia are not under the necessity of keeping the Demon Rum on the hip.

President Castro is exhibiting symptoms of returning impertinence since Judge Taft left the vicinity of Panama.

The forthcoming legislature will have an excellent opportunity of testing the tightness of the lid they put on.

That dull rumbling noise is the snoring of the voter sleeping off the effects of the excitement that culminated last Thursday.

The national press is about as badly divided in its opinion on the results of the Georgia election as was the state press in its line-up.

If either party wants to win in a walk, it might make one plank in its platform giving the Philippines to Japan for "love and affection."

Mr. Roosevelt would be justified in excommunicating Atlanta as a race-suicide town if he took a glimpse at our slanderous vital statistics.

Wireless reports from the steamer going up Salt river reported that the candidates had about reached the stage of drawing for the consolation prize.

If the republican party keeps on harmonizing at its present rate, it may reach the status of Foraker posing as the adopted son of Mr. Roosevelt or Judge Taft.

The preacher who denounced merry widows, lids and the peek-a-boo as "devices of the devil" has an exalted opinion of the ingenuity of the latter gentleman.

WORK, NOT TALK, ON EXTENSION OF LIMITS.

It is about time that the lengthy discussion and the spasmodic agitation of the project of annexing the districts contiguous to Atlanta were replaced by a definite decision, and the decision followed by actual preliminaries!

Within three weeks the legislature will assemble in Atlanta. It is eminently advisable, if we are to avoid hopeless confusion and possible defeat of the proposition next year, that the city council this week take such action as will bring the contention to an affirmative verdict, secure the requisite authority from the general assembly and turn Greater Atlanta over to the census enumerators now preparing for their decennial undertaking.

The opposition to annexation is one purely of impassivity and negation. The case is too thoroughly and equitably established to admit of open or aggressive antagonism. Here are thousands upon thousands of people virtually enjoying access to the public service and municipal facilities of Atlanta; what share are they contributing to the maintenance and improvement of these facilities?

Is it fair, is it just that these suburban Atlantans, for whom The Constitution has the highest respect, should be on a plane of equality with de facto Atlantans? Is it the "square deal" that they should profit by the institutions which the accumulated taxes of Atlantans for many years have founded and sustained, without themselves contributing a righteous portion of the expense?

We submit, in all reason, that the proposition has no support, either in law, logic or fair dealing.

We do not argue for any blanket, or visionary, annexation. We would not approve the proposal to take in wildernesses of woods and space for the sake of mere size.

We do contend for the incorporation not only of the thickly populated contiguous districts, but as well for the annexation of such territory as it is reasonable to assume will be invaded and fully occupied by the natural growth of the city within ten years, perhaps half that time. The census that is to be taken in less than two years will stand as a world-record until 1920. We want that record to be authentic, just, beneficial.

Every city of any importance has already adopted similar measures. It is within the power of the council to IMMEDIATELY remove all danger of Atlanta's disastrous failure to exhibit similar enterprise and similar instincts of self-preservation.

The "Atlanta spirit," and we do not believe it is confined to the corporate limits, should compel the project to completion!

RIGHT OF WAY FOR THIS MUNICIPAL PROBLEM.

The city board of health is to meet in special session this week to consider ways and means to eliminate one disease-breeding source by cleaning and KEEPING clean the stables and backyards of Atlanta.

Upon the early success of this crusade hinges the health of every man, woman and child in the city; surely a consideration sufficiently primary and paramount to be given the right of way over every municipal problem now at issue.

An encouraging omen is found in the public spirit and energy with which Mayor Joyner is lending his every influence toward the campaign of the board of health.

The board of health lays down as a first and irrefutable premise that unremoved garbage, trash and stable accumulations on city lots and in city stables mean just so many disease-breeding centers threatening the health of the entire municipality. Danger of infection does not stop with the family or the neighborhood of the householder who is unable to comply with the law requiring sanitary premises.

Exposed compost and garbage heaps, open to the invasion of flies, gnats and mosquitoes, jeopardize the health of residents in the next block, the next ward, even across the city, notwithstanding that these residents may be more fortunate or diligent in keeping sanitary their own vicinity.

Neither the board of health nor the sanitary department are at fault for this dangerous and disgraceful condition. The blame must rest upon the negligence, the indifference, perhaps the unconscious ignorance, which have marked our policies toward this vital phase of the city's administration.

The sanitary department is splendidly efficient and energetc. It accomplishes a maximum of results with a minimum of resources. For years it has been handicapped by inadequate appropriations and illy-considered regulations.

What can be expected, for instance, of ordinances that half-way provide for municipal removal of garbage and leavings from city trash-barrels, AND THAT REQUIRE THE RESIDENT TO MAKE HIS OWN ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE REMOVAL OF STABLE COMPOST, A DISSEMINATOR OF DISEASE EQUALLY AS DANGEROUS AS GARBAGE AND LEAVINGS?

It is like cutting out one-half the cancer and giving the other more room to spread! Such reasoning is childish folly; worse, it is suicidal.

The city ordinances should, therefore, be forthwith broadened so that the removal of all forms of garbage and compost shall come within the province of the sanitary department.

Next, the department should, and MUST, be given ample funds and authority with which to discharge these functions. Whether the owners of animals or the city generally will pay the extra tax is a matter of procedure that is subordinate to the main issue.

And the "main issue" is the clothing of the sanitary department with the power and the duty of removing disease-breeding accumulations of EVERY nature; not, as at present, dividing responsibility between the sanitary department and the citizen who happens to own a cow or a horse.

The first obligation of the municipality is to safeguard the health of every citizen, regardless of the source from which it is menaced. The duty of council is obvious and inescapable!

WHY NOT BRYAN AND WATSON?

William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, presidential nominee of the democratic party.

Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, vice presidential nominee of the democratic party.

And then a straight-out fight to a finish against the republicans, with tariff reform as the main issue.

How does that impress you as a national democratic ticket?

Thomas E. Watson is already the nominee of the national populist party, which he has not yet accepted, and which nomination will not be formally tendered until July. He has a following reaching into the hundreds of thousands, distributed variously in the straight populist alignment or as "floaters" and independent voters in the democratic and republican parties.

To this innumerable host, located from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Watson embodies living, lasting principles, most of them essentially democratic.

It seems that Bryan's nomination at Denver is a certainty.

Now, if Mr. Watson be placed on the democratic ticket with him, with all the prestige of a rejuvenated, a hopeful democracy, what would develop?

Such a ticket would receive the undivided populist support; by the thousands upon thousands former populists in the republican and independent parties would come back into the democratic fold.

It must be conceded that Bryan's nomination is assured. The Nebraskan is one of the most forceful orators, one of the most effective vote-getters in America. Watson's magnetism is likewise compelling, his energy and enthusiasm contagious and inexhaustible.

Both men are born campaigners, born crusaders. The combination would be a unique one.

When the unique and the forceful are winning in American politics, is it not worth while for the Georgia democracy to debate presenting this opportunity to the Denver convention?

ANSLEY—ATLANTA'S TOM LAWSON.

Edwin P. Ansley, who organized and pushed to success Atlanta's famous Ansley Park development, has adopted Thomas W. Lawson's style of advertising his wares, as will be seen from a glance at the columns of the Atlanta newspapers. It is, to say the least of it, a unique method, but Ansley has long dealt in uniquenesss in working out his development propositions.

The Ansley Park sale which takes place today at 9 o'clock will put some of the best residence property in Atlanta on the market, and the announcement of the result will be read with interest.

LETTERS FROM PEOPLE.

Can't Be Fooled Twice.

Editor Constitution: The remarkable campaign just closed in Georgia goes a long way toward proving axiomatic the famous saying of Lincoln, that 'you can fool all of the people some of the time, that you can fool some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." It perhaps also exemplifies the thought that while you may fool all of the people some of the time, you can't use the same campaign headlines in two campaigns even on the class fooled some of the time.

There will perhaps be no denial of the statement that the star features of the winning ticket two years ago were the bugaboo of the railroads and the skull and crossbones of negro domination.

Conservative Georgians at that time recognized that while the railroads needed regulation, that while many reforms were imperative in regard to corporations, yet at the same time they knew that proscription of corporations was perhaps just as bad as corporation-domination; they knew that capital and labor were mutually inter-dependent, and that a fight, bitter, intense, and unreasoning against capital could not but in the end fail to sow seeds which would culminate in distress and want among the laboring people of the state. Their belief was justified by the subsequent events.

Conservative Georgians knew two years ago that there was no danger of negro domination in the state. They knew that for years the negro in Georgia had taken less and less interest in political affairs. They also knew that the new law proposed was not really a disfranchisement law, but that ultimately it was an educational and property qualification law, and as such was open to just such a calm and dispassionate criticism as such a law should demand from the people of the state. These are the facts of the case in a nutshell.

But the victorious leaders of two years ago would not have it so. They based the fight on an alleged corporation domination of the state and an imminent fear of negro control. By seductive and speciaus arguments they tried to show that for 25 years, Georgia under its various governors, representing many clashing factions in Georgia politics, had unavailing been controlled by corporation influence. They claimed that all who opposed their candidate for governor were either negro lovers, or had some sinister purpose of using the negro. By twisting facts, by big headlines, by the thousand and one tricks of politics they managed to fool "all of the people some of the time."

But the people are ever wary. Their sleepless eyes were on the socalled reformers. They saw the unfulfillment of campaign promises, they saw that as the result of the bitter threats made that capital shunned Georgia fearful of even the interest, on its money, they saw as a result of the clamor shops shut down, men idle, houses vacant, unrest and discontent in general. They learned the real truth of the negro bugaboo held before their eyes, and they waited.

The second campaign came. Remarkable as it may seem the former victorious forces sought no new arguments, but promptly, under all the changed conditions, swung aloft as their shibboleth the old bugaboo of corporation and negro domination. Well—

"You can fool some of the people all of the time, all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

And thus another maxim comes to take its place in Georgia as one of those things which "passeth not away."

JUSTICE.

Atlanta, Ga., June 6, 1908.

IN THE COURTS

J. A. Carroll entered suit against the Atlanta Paper Company yesterday for $2,000 damages. He says his daughter, Eva Evelyn, had her right foot cut off while working a press in the factory. Eva Evelyn, the daughter, through her father, also enters suit for $10,000. The attorneys for the prosecution are Westmoreland Bros. and J. C. Clarke.

The contest over the John Broad estate was renewed in Judge Pendleton's court yesterday. The suit is brought by E. S. McCandless, executor of the estate, against Morris Conley, a former executor, for $50,000, which was never accounted for.

In previous litigation judgment was given McCandless on land for a portion of the $50,000. The suit in the present case is for the remaining part of the $50,000. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Burton Smith and the defendant by Westmoreland Bros.

Demurrers to the indictments against E. H. Thornton and W. F. Manry, the president and vice president of the Neal bank, will be heard before Judge Roan, of the superior court, some day next week. In case the demurrers are upheld the cases will never come to trial. If they are denied they will be placed before a jury.

Both Thornton and Manry are indicted jointly for lending more than 25 per cent of the capital stock of the bank to one corporation. The defendants demur to this on the ground that this law refers to only banks of issue. To the indictment that Manry swore falsely in his statements to the state treasurer, a demurrer is made on the ground that Manry was never given the oath.

To the indictment against Thornton as a director for borrowing from the bank demur is made that he did so with the consent of all of the directors and as executor of the Neal estate.

The defendants are represented by Attorneys Reuben Arnold and Westmoreland Bros.

FLAMES THREATENED OLD FREIGHT DEPOT

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department answered a call to the old Southern freight depot on Decatur street. The building had also been occupied as a warehouse by the Carolina Portland Cement Company, but had been abandoned and was not in use.

The fire, which did little damage, started in a room on the second floor among a lot of rubbish, and for a while threatened to envelop the entire building. Quick work by the firemen prevented a spread of the flames.

Pedestrians along Decatur street thought at first that the McCord-Stewart Company's building was afire until investigation diclosed the fact that it was the warehouse across the alley. It is thought that some cigarette smoker carelessly dropped a spark in the rubbish upstairs, causing the blaze. The alarm at 2:25 o'clock was sent in over the central station watchman's patrol and the alarm system of the American District Telegraph Company at McCord-Stewart Company's plant.

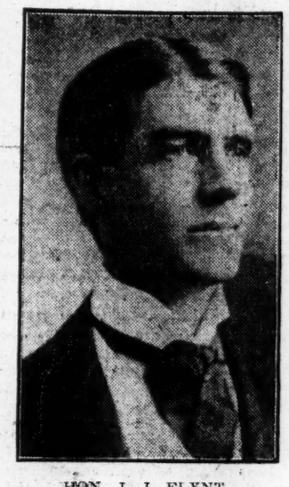

GOSSIP AT THE CAPITOL

Governor Hoke Smith yesterday began work on his annual message to be submitted to the state legislature when it meets on June 24.

During the strenuous days of the campaign he was unable to get down to work on this official document. He has, however, taken advantage of the first days following the primary election to get the message into shape.

Governor Smith has received a great flood of letters during the past few days from admirers in all parts of the state, discussing the turn events have taken and offering suggestions as to his future course.

One of the various rumors recently

HON. J. J. FLYNT,
Of Spalding County, Senator from the Twenty-sixth District and Candidate for the Presidency.

put into circulation was that the governor would not serve out his present term, but would resign as soon as the legislature convened. No comment upon this rumor could be obtained from any one at the executive office.

Central Will Replace Trains.

The Georgia railroad commission has agreed to a delay of one week in the execution of its order to the Central of Georgia railway to replace the train each way between Albany and Americus recently discontinued by that road.

When passenger trains Nos. 7 and 8, operating between Albany and Americus, were taken off by the Central with the consent of the commission, the people of Albany complained that the mail service to that point had been seriously affected. In response to their petition, the commission ordered a hearing on May 19. As the result of this hearing the commission ordered the old service reinstated beginning Sunday, June 7. Later, upon conference with Mr. Moise, a week's delay was authorized.

In reply to this order, Major J. F. Hanson, president of the Central railway, wrote to Chairman McLendon stating that the road considered the present service between Albany and Americus adequate, and that, while they would comply with the order, they would later apply to the commission for permission to discontinue one train each way between the points named.

Chairman McLendon stated that the Central road's officials admitted that the train from Macon to Albany, taken as a whole, was a paying proposition, but that the branch between Albany and Americus, paid no returns.

The people of Albany insisted that the train had been run for nineteen years. The Albany postmaster declared that it was the most valuable mail train the Central operated into Albany. The commission discovered that its earnings for ten months, from July 1, 1907, to April 30, 1908, were $2,200,394, so it ordered the train reinstated even though it had to be operated at a loss between Albany and Americus.

The commission was further influenced by the argument that one of the largest peach, watermelon and cantaloupe crops raised in southwest Georgia in years is about to be marketed, and that the facilities furnished by this train were needed by the shippers.

Senator Flynt for President of the Senate.

Joseph D. Boyd, of Griffin, who has just been reelected as representative from Spalding county in the next house, and who formerly represented the twenty-sixth district in the state senate, was in Atlanta yesterday in the interest of Senator James J. Flynt's campaign for the senate presidency to succeed to the unexpired term of President John W. Akin.

The friends of Mr. Flynt are making a strong fight to have him chosen as head of the upper body. In view of his extensive experience in legislative work and strong support already offered to him, they believe he is a winner.

A number of interesting judgeship fights were settled in the primary of last Thursday. In the numerous contests for state offices and for congress, the various circuit fights have been largely lost from sight.

Judge James M. Worley, of the northern circuit, was defeated for reelection by D. W. Meadows.

Judge J. H. Martin was defeated in the Chattahoochee circuit by S. Price Gilbert.

Both Judge Worley and Judge Martin were appointees of Governor Hoke Smith.

Judge W. N. Spence, of Mitchell, was defeated in the Flint circuit by Judge Frank Park.

The election of Newt Morris over J. Z. Foster closed another exciting contest.

The election of Judge Park was one of the surprises of the campaign. He carried his own county of Worth by a majority many times larger than that by which Judge Spence carried his home county of Mitchell.

Rebuilding Chipley.

Chipley, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The work of rebuilding the houses that were blown down by the cyclone of April 25 is moving along nicely. Some are able to get into their homes by this time, and others will do so in a few days. The committee on distribution has begun to distribute the money which was sent to sufferers of the cyclone which amounted to about $7,000, and was a great help, as some lost all they had, and could not have done anything if they had not received relief.

COL. IRVIN TO SECOND NOMINATION OF BROWN

His Grandfather, Whose Name He Bears, Placed the Name of Joseph E. Brown Before Ante Bellum Convention.

Though it has not been determined just who will make the speech nominating Hon. Joseph M. Brown in the state convention on June 23, it is now assured that one of the seconding speeches will be made by Colonel I. T. Irvin, Jr., of Washington, who was secretary of the Wilkes County Brown Club, and who is one of the most prominent young attorneys in his section of the state, and thereby hangs an interesting coincidence of history.

Colonel Irvin bears the name of his grandfather, Hon. Isaiah Tucker Irvin, who was speaker of the Georgia house of representatives at the time of his death, just at the opening of the war between the states. He was one of the leading figures in the famous convention in which the elder Joe Brown was first nominated for governor, did much to bring his name into prominence, and placed his name before the convention. He and the late Governor Brown were warm friends, and the Irvins of Wilkes county had not forgotten the friendship when Hon. Joseph M. Brown began his remarkable fight against Governor Hoke Smith.

Colonel Irvin made a splendid fight for Mr. Brown, and though the county went against him, his work was appreciated, and he will be honored in the convention.

The nominating speech will be made most probably by one of the delegates from Mr. Brown's home county, Cobb, or from the county which gave him the largest majority, Chatham.

THRONGS OF VETERANS PASS THROUGH ATLANTA

In the neighborhood of one thousand veterans passed through Atlanta yesterday on their way to the reunion in Birmingham today and tomorrow. There were about three hundred who left from Atlanta, the majority of them going via the Seaboard Air Line.

The Seaboard ran four trains out of Atlanta to accommodate the veterans. One left early in the morning, one at midday, one in the afternoon and one at night. The Southern railway, aside from its regular trains, ran a special at 10 o'clock.

The specials over the Seaboard were in charge of Traveling Passenger Agent S. B. Murdock, and Traveling Passenger Agent D. W. Morrah. The operation of the Seaboard trains was arranged by Assistant General Passenger Agent J. J. Puller.

The special over the Southern was in charge of Passenger Agent James Freeman.

Delegations left this city from the following camps: Atlanta Camp No. 159, Camp A. Wheeler's Cavalry, Camp W. H. T. Walker, Camp Stonewall Jackson and Camp Tige Anderson. The majority of the members of Camp No. 159 went on the Southern. The rest took the Seaboard.

The following letter, received from a prominent attorney of Hartford, Conn., gives the information that a former Georgia woman, but whose address is not now known, is one of the hei rsto a large estate. The letter is as follows:

"Editor Constitution: We are seeking information concerning the relatives of a woman who died recently and who was born in Thomasville, Ga., about 1861. At the time of her death she was named Eleanor Robertson, but she had been married three times, the first husband died and she obtained a divorce from the other two. Robertson was the name of the third.

"According to one report her maiden name was Eleanor Norby. According to another she was the daughter of a German physician, who resided in Thomasville and had a half-sister whose given name was Josephine. From Georgia she went to Kentucky, where she remained for some time.

"We have made a very extensive, as well as expensive search for these relatives, but found none of them, and as a last resort we would like to have you publish this letter in the hope that it may come to the notice of some one who can aid us.

"An estate of considerable value awaits these heirs and can be obtained by communicating with the undersigned, to whom all information should be sent without delay.

YOUNG BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

Both the Boy and His Horse Were Cut to Pieces.

Rome, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Galway White, a young white boy ten years old, and son of J. C. White, of Rome, was killed by a freight train on the Southern railway yesterday evening about 7:30 o'clock. Young White had been living at Aragon and was coming to Rome with an older brother, Arthur White, when he was struck by the train. Arthur was riding in front in a buggy and Galway a little distance in the rear.

When they reached a deep cut about three miles this side of Aragon, from which a train going south was not visible until within a short distance, the boy was caught by a local freight going south, and both boy and horse were cut to pieces. The train failed to stop after the accident. The remains were gathered in by the other brother and brought to Rome. Three other persons have been killed by trains in this same cut.

Death of a Little Boy.

The funeral of the little 2-year-old son of Dr. C. L. Stoney, 675 Peachtree street, occurred yesterday morning from All Saints' church.

Death had claimed the little boy, who was the sunshine of a happy home, and left the shadows that darken the home circle when the Reaper comes. He was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Stoney, and in the two years that he had brought joy into the home he had become enshrined in the hearts that loved him.

In their deep bereavement the father and mother have the sympathy of many friends.

"Sanctus, sanctus," cried the angels,
"Sanctus," sang the little child,
And the gates of heaven opened
To admit him undefiled—
Opened with a flood of glory
Where the angels stood and smiled.

"Sanctus, sanctus," through the twilight
Floats the burden of their strain,
And although your hearts are heavy
With a wild, tumultuous pain.
You shall see the child that loved you
When the gates swing out again.

Were Given Two Years.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 8.—Joseph L. Henry and George Roberts, soldiers of the United States coast artillery, who pleaded guilty last week of robbing the Egmont Key postoffice, were sentenced today by Judge Locke, in the United States court, to serve two years each at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

OFFICERS CATCH THIEF IN POLICE STATION

That a thief could operate successfully at police headquarters, in open defiance to the numerous officers on duty, and in the very shadow of the prison bar, seems incredible. Such, however, is the case.

With astonishing regularity, Captain J. T. Shepard and Sergeant W. M. Mayo, both of the morning watch, have missed articles of almost insignificant value, such as lunches put up by loved ones at home, and spirituous liquors stored in the station sergeant's office, as the result of numerous blind tiger raids. Having such an abnormal appetite, and being so bold and regular in his depredations, the officials were determined on the thief's capture.

Early Sunday morning, just after midnight, the plundered was caught red-handed. He was seen by Captain Shepard presiding with sovereign authority over the latter's well-prepared lunch.

Because they have been baffled by such a personage, Captain Shepard and Sergeant Mayo reluctantly give his name to the public as Thomas Catt.

TWO BOYS SAVED TRAIN.

They Saw a Burning Trestle and Flagged Train.

Mobile, Ala., June 8.—The southbound passenger train No. 25, on the Southern railway, was saved from destruction, and 100 passengers or more prevented from meeting perhaps vioent deaths or serious injuries by two white youths, Charlie Adams and Archie Harris, near Thomasville, Ala., this morning.

The young men were walking along the track and on turning a sharp curve saw a big trestle ablaze. At the same time they saw the blaze they heard the rumble of the morning train. Rushing back, they falgged the oncoming train with its human freight with their caps and wild waving of their arms. The locomotive stopped within 20 feet of the burning structure. Passengers came out, and with the trainmen, hugged the youngsters for their heroic act.

Hard Times for the Amateurs.

(From The New York Sun.)

The saloon keeper running for office on the prohibition ticket, the furtive tippler asking for the votes of the total abstainers, and the reformer whose heart is bursting to reform everybody but himself, may achieve a prodigious success if he happens to ride upon a wave of public hysteria. If he himself makes the wave, so much the better for him. In that case the people will recognize in him a heaven born genius and will acclaim his progress from one stage of dishonor to another as if he were a deity or a Debs. But if it be not a wave of his own making, it must presently land him in the shallows of ridicule, disavowed as a quack and a humbug.

The people of Georgia are undependable and of a low selfishness. They didn't see the fun of a game in which the Golden Hoke ate all the peanuts and left them the shells. They saw Hoke's effulgence glow hotter and hotter as the accursed corporations fell and as thousands upon thousands of workmen enjoyed their compulsory vacations. They failed, however, to appreciate the philosophy that gave them bankruptcy and misery at the same time that it forbade them the solace of the bottle. In short they voted the whole show a fake and a humbug and they vociferously elected the sublime Hoke to private life.

A gentleman named Joe Brown, whose sole claim to distinction is his conviction that there is nothing for Georgia in the bankruptcy of her railroads, will hereafter preside over the destines of the Cracker State. Joe Brown is opposed to the inculcation of the Christian virtues by writ, capias and distraint. He holds that more people are persuaded than compelled to be good, and is doubtful of the sincerity of avenging angels with an appetite for office.

Governors Glenn, of North Carolina, and Comer, of Alabama, should be profoundly concerned with the Georgia episode. It is about time that they sent for the reporters and imparted to the public their views about big game on the Upper Uganda.

STATE CONVENTION MEETS IN THE GRAND JUNE 23

J. R. Smith Will Be Temporary Chairman—Convention Will Decide Georgia's Attitude in the National Gathering.

The state convention will meet in the Grand opera house on June 23d. J. R. Smith, the campaign manager of Joseph Mackie Brown, will be temporary chairman. No name has yet been suggested for permanent chairman.

The state convention will decide what shall be Georgia's attitude on national political affairs.

As predicted in The Constitution of last Saturday, it has been definitely decided to hold the state convention in the opera house. The reason for this is that several counties wish to send large delegations, and the Grand has two or three times the seating capacity of the hall of the house of representatives.

Delegates to Convention.

Under the rule adopted by the present state committee, the successful candidate for the nomination is entitled to name all delegates. While Joseph M. Brown, the nominee, will exercise the right to have only his friends in the convention, he will leave the selection to his supporters in the various counties. The last state committee thought it best not to have a minority in the convention. Presumably in the interest of harmony, the new rule was adopted. As a consequence, Mr. Brown has the privilege of choosing the delegates to the convention not only from the eighty-five counties he carried, but as well as from the sixty-one counties Hoke Smith carried.

J. R. Smith, campaign manager for Mr. Brown, has sent out over the state a letter containing the following statement made by Mr. Brown last Saturday:

"I request my friends in every county in the state to see to it that the rule of the state democratic executive committee be complied with in the matter of selecting delegates to the state convention and secure the appointment of delegates favorable to the policies set forth in my announcement and to my candidacy.

"I would be glad for the officers of the various Brown clubs in the state to confer with other friends and agree upon delegates to be presented, and in counties where there were no clubs that my active supporters and friends confer and agree upon delegates.

"So far as national politics are concerned, I prefer to express no preference, but wish the sentiment of the counties to be presented by the delegates selected."

Convention Will Decide.

Although it is within his power to control the Georgia delegation for national political purposes, Mr. Brown prefers not to exercise that privilege given him under the rules of the state committee. Instead of going to Denver with the vote of Georgia in his vest pocket, he will put up to the state convention the solution of all questions as to Georgia's attitude in the national gathering. The delegates who will gather in Atlanta on June 23 will decide whether the Georgia delegation to the national convention shall go instructed or uninstructed, and, in the event they go instructed, for whom their vote shall be cast.

There has been a good deal of discussion about the Brown headquarters favorable to sending an uninstructed delegation. It has been pointed out that to send delegates bound by instructions is like sending a messenger with a sealed note. It is urged that the delegates should go uninstructed and be permitted to exercise their judgment as to what is best for them to do after they get on the spot. However, as no expression has yet come from Mr. Brown on this subject, and the men who will have to decide the question have not yet been named, it is too early to say what will be done.

Even some ardent supporters of Mr. Brown think it would be best to send an uninstructed delegation and permit them some latitude in choosing a nominee for president and vice president.

HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW'S HAIR WAS PULLED BY SYRIAN

That there is a limit even to endurance of a kind and affectionate son-in-law, was the plea of K. J. Nackad, a Syrian, who was arraigned in the police court yesterday morning on the charge of pulling his mother-in-law's hair.

Nackad runs a small grocery store opposite the police barracks. He married a young Syrian girl, the only child of her mother. The mother-in-law is a fine looking woman about sixty years of age.

The young wife meekly told in broken English how her husband had pulled her mother's back hair until her neck was red.

Nackad admitted that he had pulled the hair of his wife's mother, and in extenuation told a long story of how he had tried to treat his mother-in-law with kindness and affection and how she had so continually rasped him that he at last lost self-control and pulled her hair. He said that he had smuggled his wife's mother into the United States through Mexico because she couldn't pass through New York on account of sore eyes. He told about how he had supported and cared for her and how she had abused and villified him every day in his life. He said his wife loved her old mother more than she did him, but he was willing to let that pass.

"I at last bought her a ticket back to Syria," he stated, "and she got as far as New York and turned around and came right back again. I did all a man could to live with her peacefully, but she nagged at me so that I at last got mad and, well, I did pull her hair a little."

Recorder Broyles told Nackad that he sympathized with him but would have to fine him.

"I know you have had a great deal to bear with," remarked the recorder, "but still you ought not to pull your mother-in-law's hair. I will have to fine you $5.75."

Nackad paid the fine, shrugged his shoulders and left the court room, his young wife and mother-in-law following him.

WILL CALL CONVENTIONS TO MAKE NOMINATIONS

Congressional and Senatorial Conventions Will Soon Be Called by the Chairmen.

Dr. A. H. Van Dyke, chairman of the thirty-fifth senatorial democratic executive committee, says he will call the convention for the district together just as soon as he can hold a conference with Hon. John M. Slaton, the successful candidate for state senator from this district.

"I think the convention will be called to meet some day next week," stated Dr. Van Dyke, "and the date will be named just as soon as I can have a talk with Mr. Slaton."

Charles N. Allen, chairman of the democratic congressional executive committee for the fifth district, stated that he would call the congressional convention for this district some day within two weeks. He will have to wait until he can get a full list of delegates.

THE GEBBIAS MUST HANG.

Their Only Hope Is Interference of the Pardon Board.

New Orleans, June 8.—Unless the board of pardons interferes, Leonardo Gebbia and his sister, Nicolina Gebbia, convicted of complicity in the kidnapping and murder of 8-year-old Walter Lamana about a year ago, will expiate their crime on the gallows. The Gebbias trial followed that of several other Italians who were given life sentences on the same charge.

Public sentiment was wrought up to a high pitch when the first trial brought in a verdict of guilty, without capital punishment, and when the Gebbias trial followed a verdict of guilty, as charged, was found, and the Gebbias were sentenced to be hanged. They took an appeal, but the state supreme court today handed down a decision sustaining the findings of the jury.

MAYOR SAYS KEEP BACK YARDS CLEAN

Has Held Conference With Chief Jentzen.

CITY'S DUTY TO DO THE WORK

Mayor Joyner Believes a Small Tax Levied on Each Horse and Cow Will Raise Sufficient Sum of Money for Sanitary Department.

Mayor Joyner has held a consultation with the chief of the sanitary department in regard to keeping the back yards in the city clean of all refuse and manure.

The mayor says he believes it is the duty of the city to keep the yards clean and that a nominal tax on each horse and cow will raise enough money to carry on the work.

"I think there is no doubt about it being the city's duty," states the mayor, "to have the back yards in the city kept clean. Private citizens have no time to run around trying to find a dray two or three times a week to haul off manure. The most diligent efforts in this way often fail and then nearby neighbors have to suffer as much as the person who owns the stock. Chief Jentzen is taking a census of all the cows and horses in the city, and from what he says I think that a fair estimate of the number is about 15,000. Now, if a small annual tax of only one dollar for each cow and horse is levied it will be no hardship on anybody and will raise $15,000, enough money, Chief Jentzen thinks, to keep all yards in the city free of manure. This is not only a matter of cleanliness, but it affects the very health and lives of the people. It is such a matter that cannot be tampered with or delayed. The heated season is already upon us and the city must make a move and at once."

Getting His Figures Ready.

Chief Jentzen says it may be some ten or twelve days before his census of horses and cows is completed, and that just as soon as he has the figures he will make a report to the board of health.

The general council meets next Monday afternoon and it is probable that a resolution will be introduced calling for steps to be taken to raise the money needed by the sanitary department.

It may require an ordinance to levy the tax of one dollar. The matter will probably be referred to the tax committee or the ordinance may be adopted without any reference to any committee as the matter is considered very urgent.

Not only are the members of the board of health thoroughly in earnest about keeping the back yards in the city clean, but nearly every practicing physician in Atlanta has spoken about the matter and has stated that unless the yards are kept clean the city's health cannot be kept up to the standard that it should be this summer.

BUFFALO HAS ARRIVED AND BEAR IS COMING

Fine Addition Is Made to the Grant Park Zoo in a Bison Americanus.

The bison Americanus has arrived at the Grant park zoo. That is the buffalo has arrived from Chicago, and is now installed at the zoo.

This is a great addition to the menagerie, for buffaloes in captivity are rare, and in wild life they have almost become extinct. Like the Red Man of the west, the buffalo has been hunted down until now there are only two large wild herds left on the plains. In the private reserves there are only about 1,200 zuffaloes, and very few in the public zoos.

So Atlanta is lucky in having a bison Americanus.

The buffalo is a very fine specimen. He has not yet been named, and his formal christening will probably not take place until the park board meets. The only name so far suggested is "Joe Brown."

Notice was received yesterday by Dan Carey, secretary of the park board, that the Syrian bear has been shipped from New York, and will arrive here in a few days. His name is Czar, and he is said to be the finest bear of the kind ever held in captivity.

CITY CAMPAIGN WILL SOON START

Local Political Pot Is Now Simmering.

CANDIDATES ARE LINING UP

The City Primary Will Take Place Either Late in September or Early in October—Chairman of Executive Committee Gives Out Statement.

The local political pot has already began to simmer and the various candidates for mayor, aldermen, councilmen and city hall officials are getting ready for the campaign.

The city primary will probably be held late in September or early in October. Chairman W. W. Gaines, of the city executive committee, says it is too early to call his committee together and that no definite action about the primary will be taken for some weeks yet. The candidates, however, are pluming for the contest.

There are four candidates announced for mayor, Alderman Fletcher A. Quillian, James G. Woodward, Henry H. Cabaniss and Thomas H. Goodwin. Alderman James L. Key may become a candidate later on.

For Aldermen and Councilmen.

Two aldermen are to be elected, one in the second and one in the sixth ward. The candidates so far announced are, Press Huddleston and Joseph Loewus in the second ward, and Walter A. Taylor in the sixth ward.

The candidates for council are:

W. C. Puckett, in the first ward; Dr. R. F. Ingram and Hollis A. Boynton, in the second ward; Sid Holland, J. H. Haggard and C. P. Bently, in the third ward; Dr. C. J. Vaughan, in the fourth ward; Dan S. Walraven, and John Sisson, in the fifth ward; none in the sixth ward; Craig Cofield, in the seventh ward; Frank H. Reynolds, in the eighth ward.

There are several other candidates mentioned in all the wards.

Three for City Attorney.

There is a three-corneded race for city attorney, and the candidates are, William P. Hill, William H. Terrell and George Westmoreland.

In speaking of the city primary, Chairman Gaines, of the executive committee said yesterday that on account of the heavy registration and the large vote which was polled in the state and county election he believed the city committee would adopt measures that would prevent any congestion in the large wards. He thought that two precincts would be established in each of the large wards, and that steps would be taken at once to secure a charter amendment for that purpose. With this in view he and other members of his committee will go before council next Monday afternoon.

In a few days the city campaign will be on and once more politics will occupy the attention of the people.

SON OF JUSTICE WHITE MAY ENTER GEORGIA TECH

Former Graduate at New Orleans Boosts the Local Technical School.

Stating that his present successful position, that of the superintendency of the McGinnis cotton mills, New Orleans, La., a plant of 42,000 spindles and employing 800 hands, is due to training received in the Georgia School of Technology, A. O. Hero, a former Tech student, has written to Dr. Matheson asking that a catalog of the Atlanta institution be sent to Justice Edward White, of the United States supreme court.

Justice White is contemplating sending his son to Atlanta for a course in the Georgia Tech, and Mr. Hero warmly recommends the local school.

The young man, who is now in charge of such a large mill, spent only two years at Tech. He took the special textile course, finishing in 1906, and this fitted him for the position he now holds.

TWO DOGS CAUSE A ROW AND PISTOL WAS FIRED

Ben Sater's Bulldog Shook Ben Poller's Fox Terrier and There Was Trouble.

Ben Sater, of 323 Central avenue, had a bulldog. Ben Poller, who lives next door, had a pet fox terrier. Ben Sater's bulldog came near shaking the life out of Ben Poller's terrier. The two families got into a row and Ben Poller fired off his pistol three times at the bulldog of Ben Sater.

The police investigated and with Ben Sater's consent killed the vicious bulldog.

Ben Poller was arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday morning for firing a pistol in the city limits. Witnesses testified that he fired into the back porch of the Sater residence. Poller stated that he used the pistol because Ben Sater's bulldog came near biting his (Poller's) little brother.

The recorder fined Poller $5.75, and Poller said he was satisfied so long as Ben Sater's bulldog had been killed.

DRANK POISONED TEA.

This Is Believed to Be Cause of the Illness of Three People.

New Orleans, June 8.—Three persons are now in a precarious condition in a boarding house here as a result of what the police think may be a poison plot. They are Mrs. Sylva Harris, 70 years old; John B. Purnell, 27 years old, and Nathaniel Burns, 16 years old. Mrs. Harris is the most critically ill of the trio, and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

Tea drunk by these three boarders is believed to have contained the poison. The nature of the poison and the manner in which it got into the tea is now being made a subject of investigation. Although the persons affected showed signs of poisoning yesterday, the matter was not reported to the police until today.

PADEREWSKI to The WEBER PIANO CO.

New York, May the 4th, 1908.

To the WEBER PIANO COMPANY:

Gentlemen—It seems to me superfluous to give you in writing my appreciation of your instruments. Practically you do not need it. I have been playing the Weber for seven months in this country and this fact alone proves more than anything which could be said or written. Whatever "disinterested" detractors may object to, had I not found in your pianos a perfect medium for my art I would have never played them in public.

But you insist upon having my opinion. So let me say this:

For the first time I do not feel tired of piano-playing after a long concert tour. I gave during the season ninety-three performances and my fingers are not sore, my arms are not aching, my nerves and muscles are as strong and fresh as on the day of my arrival. This is entirely due to the supreme qualities of your instruments: positive perfection of mechanism, exceptionally easy production of tone, its beautiful singing quality, and, in spite of it, its marvellous clearness.

There is an unquestionably great progress in piano-playing among the American public; there must be a progress in piano-making. You have realized it. The public will not fail to recognize your merit.

Most sincerely yours, I. J. PADEREWSKI.

A Suicide's Hand.

In former times it was a common notion that if a sick person could only touch the hand of a suicide he or she would be cured. This superstition was especially common in the west of England. In Cornwall touching a suicide's hand was said to have once cured a young man who had been afflicted with many rumors from his birth. A similar superstition regarding the touch of executed criminals has been widely prevalent and has often been recorded.

Robert Hunt in his "Romances of the West of England" says that he once saw a young woman led on to the scaffold at Newgate in order to have a wen touched by the hand of a man who had just been executed.

At Northampton of old the hangman is said to have had a regular fee for according a similar "privilege" to sufferers from like disorders. Even the coffin of a suicide may have curative value. There is a Devonshire belief to the effect that if any one suffering from disease can manage to throw a white handkerchief on such a coffin at the time of its interment the disease will banish as the handkerchief decays. Much superstititous value has also been attached to the knots of the rope used either by a suicide or in the execution of a criminal.

Objected to the Cradle.

The German emperor is said to have protested against the expenditure of $1,200 on a cradle for the baby heir to the duchy of Saxe-Coburg, the cradle being profusely trimmed with real lace.

"Had it been for a princess it would have mattered less," remarked his majesty, "but how can a warrir fit to be a German prince come out of such a cradle, decorated at the cost of a year's salary of an official or professional man?"

Combinations of Style.

Lady Modish, in her last fashion letters, writes:

The plain coat with checked or striped skirts and vice versa has been more or less exploited for a year or more. Indeed, it seems longer since Mrs. John Jacob Astor, fresh from her London triumphs, appeared in the combination of a plain coat of very dark hue and an equally dark checked skirt, in which the color of the coat predominated.

For the past few months a number of these combination costumes have been seen, but as the style is more or less trying, especially if one be plump or short, owing to the breaking of the lines, it will never attain great vogue. There is too much of the middle class effect in these coats with different skirts, unless the materials are exceptionally fine and well tailored and also unless they show unmistakably that they were planned for each other.

A variation in this sort of costume worn at a smart restaurant at luncheon was a finely striped skirt of very light weight wool in dull blues and whites. The blue stripes were hair-lines and some of the white stripes were no wider. The skirt was circular and turned up was a hem, then a bias piece of the cloth several inches deep.

The coat was nearly half-length and in a shade of blue matching the middle shade of the three blues in the stripes. It was almost tight-fitting in the back and the skirt seam in the back was open to the two large blue-covered buttons set an inch below the waist line.

The fronts were semi-fitting with small revers. The narrow collar had an inlay of the striped materials and so did the narrow turned-back cuffs on the long coat sleeves.

A glimpse of a jumper to the skirt was had. It was not an especially attractive costume, but it showed new touches.

Stripes, however, are passe, but this does not bar the hair-lines of color marking of more or less wide spaces on plain goods. These are always worn.

In checks, the shepherd plaids in white and black are especially the favorite of the younger modishes. The skirts are almost always surprisingly short, generally more or less plaited and the coats coming below the hips are either close-fitting or almost box-like in their looseness. Most of them are also severely plain without even a strapping or a bit of braid. Very smart they are and trig.

The large broken checks in black and white usually have collars and cuffs in some brilliant color, and black silk braid and large black crocket buttons are added.

Meetings.

The Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church will hold its monthly business meeting this afternoon at 4 p. m. at the residence of Mrs. Frank Lederle, 160 West Peachtree street.

The lady board of managers of the Tabernacle infirmary will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parlors of the nurses' home.

RESULTED IN A MISTRIAL.

First of the Recent Cases Charging Violation of Prohi Law.

Columbus, Ga., July 8.—(Special.)—The first of the cases against well-known Columbus people for alleged violation of the prohibition law went to trial in Muscogee superior court today. The case of Young S. Morris resulted in a mistrial after the jury had been out several hours. The detective employed by the Anti-Saloon League who worked up all the cases swore that he bought gin from Morris, and Morris swore that he did not, this being the entire testimony. The case against Alex Reid, proprietor of the Rankin house then went to trial. Up to a late hour tonight the jury had not returned a verdict.

DOUBLE TRACKS WILL BE LAID

Southern to Resume Work That Was Discontinued.

Now comes the news that the Southern railway will resume its work of double-tracking its main line from Washington to Atlanta; and that the number of employees in the Atlanta shops will be increased.

The Southern, after doing some of the work of double-tracking, abandoned it several months ago because of the financial conditions then existing and a large number of its employees in Georgia were dropped.

The greater portion of the double-tracking is between Washington and Charlotte where there is much congestion. This will be first completed, it is said, and then the work brought on to Atlanta as rapidly as possible.

From Washington to Danville the Southern has already practically doubled its tracks, and the work extended some distance between Danville and Lynchburg.

It will be good news to the railroad men in Georgia to learn that the employees of the Southern who were laid off because of financial conditions will soon be back at work.

DEPOSITORS IN NEAL BANK SOON GET SECOND DIVIDEND

Ten Per Cent Will Be the Announcement—$150,000 Cash on Hand.

Judge W. D. Ellis, of the superior court, has asked the receivers of the Neal bank, the Central Bank and Trust Corporation, for a statement in regard to the second dividend for the depositors. While this has not yet been placed in the court, the attorneys for the firm, Candler, Thomson & Hirsch, state there is at present on hand for a second division $160,000. This is a dividend of 10 per cent, the first one was 20 per cent, that being declared on March 20.

On Saturday Judge Ellis asked the attorneys for the receivers to prepare a statement of the funds on hand for a dividend for the depositors. This report will show that the bank now has on hand $170,000. Of this amount $20,000 is being held for checks on the first dividend. It, therefore, leaves $150,000 clear for the second dividend for the 9,000 depositors of the Neal bank.

When this dividend is declared, which will be in a few days, it will make 30 per cent which has been declared for those who had money in the bank when it failed.

The first dividend in the aggregate amounted to $342,368, and the second will be $150,000; the grand total being nearly $500,000. In nearly six months almost half a million dollars will have been paid to the depositors. The receivers now think that the depositors without any question will be paid back dollar for dollar.

WAS GRANTED AN EXTENSION

North Georgia Electric Company Given Another Year.

At a meeting of the council committee on electric and other railways a petition from the North Georgia Electric Company for an extension of time was granted. The company stated that the time for laying conduits and wires for the purpose of supplying electric lights and power in the city had already been twice extended, and another extension of a year from June 26 was wanted because the company had found it impossible to raise the money on account of the recent financial panic.

The committee granted a petition of the Georgia Terminal Company to lay a spur track for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad one block on Lambert street, between Jones avenue and Simpson streets. On the proposed extension only electric cars are to be used for the purpose of supplying manufactories wth coal and freight.

JACK PIERCE IS ACQUITTED

He Shot and Killed Jim Huff Early in May.

Jack Pierce, a young white man, who was on trial yesterday for killing Jim Huff, early in May, was declared not guilty by the jury.

Pierce, on the 2d of May, was followed by Jim Huff, a painter. Huff, according to the evidence, threatened to take Pierce's life because of alleged relations with his wife. Pierce shot Huff, and was afterward caught. His plea was self-defense when placed on trial. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty after being out only ten minutes. Pierce was represented by Attorney Charles B. Reynolds.

WAS SAVED FROM LYNCHING.

Life of Negro Desperado Was Barely Saved.

Pensacola, Fla., June 8.—Narrowly escaping being lynched by infuriated citizens near Freeport, Sam Brown, a negro desperado, was landed in the jail here last night, being brought on a launch from Freeport by J. J. McCaskill. But for the presence of mind and prompt action of the latter, Brown would be swinging from the end of a rope.

The negro is the one who last week lured Albert Jernigan, a prominent lumber manufacturer of Freeport, into this county, and after driving him into the country several miles, drew a revolver and held up Jernigan, robbing him of a large sum of money, and proceeded to curse and abuse him, threatening to shoot him, and it is believed would have done so but for the appearance of a team not far distant.

The negro then fled, but committed other crimes and was traced.

"The prohibition state convention now in session, sends condolences to your association. The church and society has now declared and the state will soon say 'the saloon must go.'

Dog's Head Brought to Atlanta.

Harlem, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—W. A. Winn sent a dog's head to the Pasteur institute this morning supposed to be that of a mad dog. The dog roamed over the town all Saturday night, biting and killing dogs and cats. It was killed Sunday morning by J. T. Connell, while killing chickens at his home.

There is quite a good deal of uneasiness felt lest it be a mad dog, and cause an epidemic of mad dogs in this section.

DAVIDSON VISITS ATLANTA FOR CONFERENCE OVER RACE

ROBERT E. DAVIDSON.
Of Greene, Who Came Second in the Race for Prison Commissioner.

CAPTAIN WILEY WILLIAMS.
Of Columbus, Who Led in the Race for Prison Commissioner.

R. E. Davidson, who ran second to Wiley Williams in the race for prison commissioner to succeed Tom Eason, was in Atlanta yesterday conferring with friends as to what course he should pursue.

Under the new rule of the state committee, the successful candidate must secure a majority of all votes polled. In the five-cornered contest which closed Thursday, no candidate received a majority. Wiley Williams, of Columbus, led by 21,000. Returns from one hundred and thirty-nine counties show that his total vote was 68,368; that of Mr. Davidson, his nearest competitor, was 47,621.

There are but three alternatives open to the two highest candidates: They may enter another primary, they may put the matter up to the state convention, or they may go into the regular election of October and settle it.

It is estimated that a primary will cost each man not less than $15,000. The expense of employing clerks and managers and printing tickets, runs from $100 to $150 for each county. As the office of prison commission only pays $2,000 a year, neither Mr. Williams nor Mr. Davidson would come out very far ahead on the financial end if forced to pay expenses of another primary.

If the case is appealed to the state convention, they may settle it without more ado. On the other hand, they may order a primary and decide that each candidate shall pay a nominal sum; or they may hold that each candidate rally his friends at the regular state election in October and have the verdict on that day conclusive.

Mr. Davidson would make no statement as to which course he would prefer. He declared that he had not made up his mind as yet, but wished to consult several friends before announcing his decision.

WHEN CORK LEG SNAPPED MEN AND WOMEN FAINTED

A terrible accident happened on Whitehall street yesterday morning just in front of the store of the George Muse Clothing Company, and when the men and women who thronged the thoroughfare at that time saw the sickening sight some blanched and others fainted.

An elderly gentlemen of distinguished appearance and portly proportions slipped on a banana peel and fell. The cane on which he leaned slightly as he walked failed to stay his fall, and it was seen that his right leg was doubled under him.

A score of willing hands were quickly raising the gentleman from the pavement, and then it was seen that the limb had been crushed in the fall, for it hung as limp as if the bone had been crushed into bits. Several men rushed out from the Muse store to which the gentleman was carried. Some one telephoned an ambulance call, and across the street George Adair, who had seen the accident, at once dropped everything and hastened to see if he could be of any aid.

Once the unfortunate man was in the store Lloyd Parks, George Muse, Jr., and others connected with the establishment made efforts to alleviate his pain. Rugs and mats were laid on the floor and expensive clothing done into a wad to improvise a pillow.

But to the surprise of the rescuers the gentleman would not lie on the bed prepared for him. He insisted on being given a chair. He was told that this would never do, as he could not stand the pain, but he still insisted, and a chair was brought to him. With all admiring his nerve the gentleman settled into the chair, and then to the astonishment and relief of everybody he pulled up his trouser leg, detached an artificial limb, and asked that it be carried to J. E. Hanger, from whom he had bought, in order that a new limb might be fashioned in its stead.

THEN HE BROKE—HIS CORK LEG.

The gentleman who went through this terrible experience was Judge A. C. Conn, of Canton, for many years ordinary of Cherokee county. While fighting for the confederacy he received wounds which in the early eighties necessitated the amputation of the leg which those who saw him fall thought had been crushed into a pulp.

Though the laugh was on the crowd the judge said he appreciated their kindness just as much as if his loss had been greater, and he was too much elated over the fact that it was not his good leg which had been smashed to grieve over the loss of the one which

Cedarine is the thing you've been looking for all this time. It's a moth preventive and it doesn't smell things up so that you hate to have them about.

Cedarine consists of flakes of red cedar chemicalized. It possesses the delightful, fragrant aroma of southern cedar---itself an efficacious remedy for moths. It is also prepared in a camphorated form, possessing the pungent, aromatic properties of camphor.

In either form it absolutely protects clothing from injury by moths or other destructive insects. It is absolutely harmless to furs and the most delicate fabrics. It has none of the disagreeable features common to coal-tar preparations such as moth-balls and the like.

You brush the garments or fabrics thoroughly. Carefully clean the trunk or box in which they are to be packed, sprinkle the bottom with Cedarine, pack the articles in, scattering on each layer a moderate quantity of Cedarine. On top spread the Cedarine liberally, cover with a sheet of paper, tucking in the sides and filling in with Cedarine. Close tight and the contents will be as safe from damage by moths as it is possible to make them, with no unpleasant odor when unpacked.

We sell Cedarine and can supply you with any quantity. 25c a box. Notion Department.

When the Nerves Cry— Look to the Coffee

The cry may be in some one of many ways, Trembling, Sleepy in the day time (comes from stomach), Headache, Dyspepsia, Bowel Trouble, Heart Palpitation, Pains in various parts of the body, and even Piles, Diabetes, and Weak Eyes originate in a disordered nervous system brought on by Coffee.

If you don't heed the cry (Nature's hint), you may be sure the trouble will get worse, and not better, until you either quit the coffee habit which is the cause, or you develop fixed organic disease that may carry you down.

It is the finest trade possible, to quit coffee and get well.

Health is the most exquisite fun on earth.

It is easy to quit coffee when you have choice, well-made Postum, a delicious hot beverage with the deep seal brown of strong coffee that changes to a rich golden brown when cream is added. Then you have the crisp coffee "snap" and a flavour all its own. The nerves are relieved of the old hurt of the poisonous "Caffeine" of coffee and in its place you feed the system on strong food elements in Postum which quickly rebuild the worn out and exhausted nerve and brain cells destroyed by Coffee.

These are facts. Prove them by 10 days' trial.

SCHOOL TEACHER And Coffee Drinking.

Many good people are loth to give up coffee, even though they admit that it is doing them harm, because they fear that nothing else in the way of a hot beverage will satisfy them. A school teacher says:

"I always enjoyed coffee for breakfast. The day seemed lost without it. But in time I began to experience bad results from its use. I grew very nervous and lost flesh and finally was prostrated by a complete nervous breakdown. Then I was compelled to abandon the use of coffee.

"I adopted Postum as my hot beverage at breakfast. Have been using it for more than two years. My health is restored and I am able to take an interest in life once more.

"My whole family, children and all, drink Postum, and we all thrive and keep healthy on it. It is to us a delightful drink, delicious and tempting and with none of the harmful effects that usually followed the use of coffee. The choicest brands of Java and Mocha, offered free, would not tempt us to quit the use of Postum."

Bainbridge, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Hon. L. F. Patterson has been appointed as chairman of the Decatur county delegation to the state convention. Brazil Buying Dragon Flies.

New York, June 8.—A number of Columbia University students are making a little vacation money just now by catching dragon flies. The flies are caught at night with nets and they are to be shipped to Brazil, which country has asked the United States department of agriculture for a supply. The dragon fly is the worst known enemy of the common mosquito and Brazil's order for them is in line with a policy of extermination which has been decided upon for the mosquito.

CLOSED LOWER ON NEW CROP

Good Weather Made Cotton Prices Lower.

No Cables on Account of Holiday. Sales of the Day Were Small. Close Was Within a Point of Lowest on the New Crop Months.

New York, June 8.—The cotton market was very quiet today, sales for the entire session being estimated at only 100,000 bales. Prices ruled lower, owing chiefly to good weather reports, and the market closed steady at a net decline of 6@14 points. The opening was steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 2 points. There were no cables to influence sentiment either way, and orders on the call were pretty well divided, but right afterward the market became easy under liquidation by Saturday's buyers, who were disappointed that the weather map showed no disturbance of consequence in the western belt, and that the early news brought no reports of damage following the rumored breaks in Red river levees on Saturday. After selling off to a net decline of 8@9 points prices steadied slightly on covering, but weakened again in the late trading, when it seemed as though theer was some liquidation through houses with Wall street connections. The close was within a point of the lowest on the new crop positions. Old crop months were quiet and relatively steady. There was nothing important in the way of spot news, and the official forecasts were for favorable weather tonight and tomorrow. Liverpool will be open tomorrow, but will be closed again on Friday and Saturday of this week. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged.

Receipts at the ports today 12,266 bales, against 8,707 last week and 4,666 last year. Receipts for the week 65,000 bales, against 66,018 last week and 34,083 last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 11.40; middling gulf 11.65; sales 1,000 bales. Futures opened and closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, June 8.—Cotton spots quiet; low ordinary 7 1-16c, nominal; ordinary 7 7-8c, nominal; good ordinary 9 5-16c; low middling 10 7-16c; middling 11 1-2c; good middling 12c; middling fair 12 1-2c; fair 13 1-8c, nominal; sales 1,550 bales; receipts 3,127; stock 113,715. Futures opened barely steady, with the July option 7 points up, and the other active months 6 to 8 points below the close Saturday. With no advices from Liverpool, where a holiday is being observed, the only factor at the opening was the weather which was reported fair throughout the greater portion of the belt. Reports of more or less encouraging nature were received from Texas, where considerable damage was recently done by floods and the advanced scored at that time was somewhat detracted from today by the recession in values which followed the receipt of these advices. Predictions of good weather for the belt for the next 24 hours resulted in a still further recession, and at the close, which was steady, the active months were 10 to 12 points below the close Saturday.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 8.—Better weather throughout the south, with more favorable crop accounts from the Atlantic states and the Mississippi valley, brought a slow recession all day in a very quiet and dull market. The quick reaction on Saturday led many to anticipate the probability of a further advance, but the improvement in weather conditions stopped the buying demand. With Liverpool closed today and tomorrow and Manchester for the full week, the markets lacked the European demand from spinners, which was so substantial a factor in advancing the market during the past month.

We think the interest in the market is smaller than for some time past, and that it will be governed by the weather conditions with the spinners buying on all declines.

Holiday in England.

Exchanges in Great Britain closed today, on account of Whitsuntide.

Carpenter, Baggot & Co.

New York, June 8.—Cotton: Saturday's buyers liquidated in the early session on the more favorable weather outlook, after which the market relapsed into extreme dullness. The scattered interest both long and short seems to be pretty well evened up, with all hands awaiting some incentive before making fresh ventures. Liverpool opens tomorrow, and it is to be hoped that they will show us the way out of this dullness. With the weather as it is we do not believe an advance at this time would hold.

CUT IN STEEL IS DISCUSSED

Rumors Take More Authoritative Form.

Delay in Taking the New Step Had Depressing Effect on Stocks. The Union Pacific's New Bond Issue.

New York, June 8.—The long persisting rumors of a general cut in the price of steel products gained more authoritative form today and it came to be generally believed during the day's session of the stock exchange that substantial reductions would be announced immediately for all lines except steel rails. The policy of steel trade in holding prices has been the subject of varying criticism ever since it was formulated, and the conviction is general that the marking down of prices will be the most effective manner of reviving activity in the trade. The analogy of textile trade is the favorite one to reinforce this argument, where curtailment of production, wage readjustment and price reductions have had the consequence of revived demand and large resumption of productive activity. The misgivings over the new step contemplated by the steel trade and which were reflected in the depression of the day's stock market have to do more with the delay in its adoption than with a question of its desirability. The good effects which might be felt from the ulterior results to be expetced from the price cut are likely to be obscured, in part, at least, by the record of protest coming constantly from official sources since rumors first gained currency of the intention to cut prices. These official utterances having taken the form of protestations that price reductions could not be hoped to revive demand and that customers were not desirous of concessions, there is left now the shadow of the doubts thus implied of the efficacy of the step. The fear that wage readjustment which must follow the price revision may lead to controversy in the midst of the national political campaign is an additional factor mitigating against the favorable effect, marketwise, of the incident. Of more general considerations, attention was attracted to the subject of new capital issues by the figures of the heavy flotation for May and the additional issues in early contemplation. The May total of $166,975,700 new stock and bonds, while somewhat lower than April, is far in excess of the issues for May of last year. The total of $722,652,154, to which the new issues since the first of the year have arisen, represent an unprecedented figure for that period. The proportion of this new financing which is devoted to refunding cannot be ascertained, but the rapid rate of expansion of capital liabilities at a period of business contraction which naturally limits the rate of capital replenishment, commands the attention of bankers and investors. The additional security proposed for the Union Pacific bond issue was regarded as significant of the taste of investors at this time in that direction as much as for the rate of return offered. The understanding that the Union Pacific bonds would not be issued for public subscription until the middle of the week, kept open the question of what would be the treatment of the market by the forces which have sought to pave the way for this flotation when it is fairly out of the way. The action of the grain markets, after the publication of the government crop report, was accepted as testimony to the favorable interpretation placed on that document, in spite of the qualifying consideration of weather conditions later than the date of making up the report. The immediate weather news was unfavorable, but its effect was overcome by the force of the showing of the government report. An excellent effect was produced by the report of further decrease in the number of idle freight cars in the two weeks ending May 27, which was offered by the American Railway Association, the reduction of 22,505, bringing the number down to 381,904, compared with a maximum of 413,338 reported on April 29. The early strength in stocks was connected with this report. The later recovery was due to the government crop report and its effect on the wheat market.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $2,025,000. United States 2s and 4s registered advanced ¼ per cent on call.

EMORY COLLEGE AWARDS MEDALS

Champion Debate Was Won by Few Society.

JUNIOR EXHIBITION HELD

The Petition to Remove the College to Atlanta Was Discussed by the Trustees and a Decision Made Against Removal.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., June 7.—(Special.)—A commencement easily equal in genuinely pleasurable features and assuredly by far greater in educational significance than any ever before held, was continued today with instructive and highly interesting exercises.

At 10 o'clock this morning the eight juniors, who, by having made the highest averages in class-room work of any members of the '09 class for the spring and fall terms of 1907-'08, were entitled to orator's places, were greeted by a well-filled auditorium. The orations, which were original, and on topics of more than ordinary interest, were unusually good, and were delivered without exception in an excellent manner.

Remarks by Bishop Ward.

Bishop Seth Ward consented to deliver the medal for the best oration, and just before announcing the name of the fortunate winner, he made a short, much appreciated talk of congratulations and commendation. The bishop began his few remarks by saying: "I congratulate you heartily that you have been recognized as worthy competitors for this prize; I congratulate you on the speeches made, all of which were good, and some very fine; I congratulate you on your places as students of Emory college. To me the associations of this old place have appealed a great deal. To belong to that body that has gone out from here to serve the church and the state and reflect honor upon this institution is indeed a great privilege."

Continuing, Bishop Ward commended the speakers on the subjects chosen, and said: "I am especially gratified that the young people are discussing the lives of the men of today instead of the heroes of past centuries. As long as the young men of the college have their souls filled with ideals of this kind the prosperity of our church and state is assured. I take pleasure in the record our college has made."

The bishop touched on the benefits of college life, and said that the young man who has had the persistence to buckle down to hard work for four years, and get a diploma, belongs to a class of picked men, and urged the present junior class to carry out the good work falling to their lot.

His closing words were: "Nourish as your own soul the noble ideals that belong to you as young men, and always carry with you the noble sentiments you have expressed in your speeches this morning."

According to the decision of the judges, Bishop Ward presented the medal to Walter S. Bryan, of Wrightsville, Ga., who was congratulated as one of Emory's representatives on the Emory-Wofford debate, which was won by this institution on last May 11.

The Champion Debate.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the champion debate between representatives of the Few and Phi Gamma Literary Societies was held before a large audience. The subject was one of vital interest, and was ably discussed by every debater. A program of the exercises follows:

"Resolved, That the present distribution of power between the Federal and State governments is not adapted to modern conditions and calls for readjustment in the direction of further Centralization."

Few—Affirmative: A. W. White, Orange, Ga.; R. M. Arnold, Perry, Ga.; T. M. Sullivan, Homer, Ga. Phi Gamma—Negative: T. J. Dempsy, Jr., Jackson, Ga.; L. C. Dickson, Fayetteville, Ga.; H. T. Freeman, Lafayette, Ga.

Bishop Seth Ward, of Houston, Tex.; Hon. Stiles Hopkins and Colonel Hughes, of Atlanta, as judges, rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative. The corresponding debate of last commencement was also won by the Few Society.

Medals Are Awarded.

Immediately following the debate President James E. Dickey, in an appropriate manner, awarded the medals and prizes offered for excellence in various departments during the past year. The medals offered by the editors of the Emory Phoenix for literary excellence were as follows: Medal for the best essay published this year to L. M. Lester, of Guyton, Ga.; medal for the best poem appearing this year to W. C. Cooper, of Norwood, Ga.; the medal for the best short story going to Walter H. Beckham, of Zebulon, Ga. As announced in The Constitution on Sunday, the medals offered by the faculty to those members of the freshman and sophomore classes excelling in declamation at commencement have been awarded to James R. Webb, of Adrian, Ga., and S. E. Jenkins, of Shiloh, Ga., respectively. The scholarship giving free tuition in the college for one year, offered to that student in the subfreshman department finishing the course of study with the best record went to B. E. Wilcox, of Fitzgerald, Ga. The gold medal offered by Rev. R. M. Evans, of Bloomingdale, Fla., to the member of the freshman or sophomore class excelling in the department of biblical literature went to Hugh Howell, of Vidalia, Ga., of the freshman class. The Boynton prize medal, endowed by the late Charles E. Boynton, of Atlanta, Ga., for the best essay written by any member of the junior or senior class was awarded to H. T. Freeman, of the senior class, of Lafayette, Ga. The Palmer prize medal, given by L. D. Palmer, of the class of 1885, for excellence in mathematics, was won by Goodrich C. White, of Newnan, Ga. The junior Greek medal, bestowed by Dr. Charles W. Peppler, of the faculty, went to Walter S. Bryan, of Wrightsville, Ga. The Charles and Eugenia Sanders prize, which is $10 in gold, for the best essay on any biblical topic written by any member of the junior or senior class, was won by Tom Rivers, 1909, of Jonesboro, Ga. The Reppard Greek medal, donated by the late R. B. Reppard, of Savannah, Ga., for excellence in Greek, was awarded to E. J. Daniel, of Senoia, Ga. The Pasco prize medal, established by Rev. F. Pasco, of the Florida, cosferance, for excellence in the department of natural science went to P. H. Christian, of Quitman, Ga. The missionary medal, offered by Rev. L. W. Rivers, of the class of 1874, for the best essay on any missionary topic written by any junior or senior was won by J. D. McCord, of Manassas, Ga.. A Bible, offered by Rev. C. C. Cary for improvement in English literature in the freshman class, was presented to James R. Webb, of Adrian, Ga.. The gold medal offered by the faculty for the best graduation oration by any senior speaker, of course, cannot be awarded until after the senior orations on Wednesday.

All the medals and prizes were largely competed for, and it is quite a great honor to have won one of them.

The Social Side.

This evening the social side of commencement was uppermost. The non-fraternity reception at the residence of Miss Susie Sandiford on Church avenue was an elaborate affair and largely attended. Several fraternities also entertained this evening with smokers to their alumni or informal receptions in honor of visiting girls.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Branham, on Church avenue the class of 1858, in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation, held a meeting. Judge Branham, who was in college with this class, entertained the members at supper, after which the reunion was held. These among the oldest of Emory's alumni, are enjoying a rare privilege in this reunion, and the sight of these few old collegians, as happy as boys, relating scenes of college days that are vividly in their memories after fifty years absence from their alma mater, defies description in so short a space. Among those present at the first meeting were Judge Frank L. Little, of Sparta, Ga.; Rev. J. W. Simmons, of St. Mary's, Ga.; S. P. Orr, of Athens, Ga.

The late Dr. Young J Allen was a well-known member of the '58 class.

The reunion of the 1898 class was also a most pleasant affair. A goodly number of the class membership was present and several more will probably arrive tomorrow.

The petition providing for the removal of Emory to Atlanta, which was explained thoroughly in yesterday's Constitution, and on which an editorial appeared in an Atlanta evening paper today, has created quite a sensation throughout the state. The petitioners desired to move the college proper to the Gate City and use the present site for a great preparatory school of the highest class. However, the board of trustees, after hearing the petition, unanimously voted against it.

Tomorrow is alumni day of commencement and hundreds of alumni and former students will renew college day friendships. A special train from Atlanta will bring in many Atlanta alumni who are not already here tomorrow morning, together with Emory men from various sections.

The Alumni Address.

At 11 o'clock Bishop Warren A. Candler will deliver the alumni address and immediately after this the vast throng of college men will enjoy an old-fashioned barbecue on the campus. As has been previously announced Colonel Charles A. Gafrard, of Washingtn, Ga., who has the reputation of being the south's most famous "cue" chef, will prepare the feast and all the alumni and former students of Emory are cordially invited to attend. President L. B. Robeson, of the alumni association, has issued the following invitation to all whose addresses could be secured:

To the Alumni and Former Students of Emory College—Special letters of invitation have been issued to all alumni and former students of Emory College whose postoffice addresses we could secure. It has been impossible for me to locate many Emory College men. All former students of Emory College are cordially and earnestly invited to attend the alumni reunion on June 9. Bishop Warren A. Candler will deliver the address at 11 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue will be served on the campus. If you don't come you will miss the occasion of your life.

Fraternally yours,

L. B. ROBESON,

President Alumni Association.

At 3:30 o'clock, in the library, a memorial tablet to the late Hon. John W. Akin will be unveiled, at which occasion Dr. Bigham, of Newnan, Ga., a classmate of Judge Akin, will deliver an address.

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Andrew Gillies, pastor of Hennepin street church, Minneapolis, Minn., will deliver the literary address, which will be a rare treat, as Dr. Gillies is one of the most forceful of speakers. His probable subject will be "The Nitimates in Education."

A CARD.

Editor Constitution: I wish space in your columns for the purpose of thanking more than three thousand of the best men in Fulton county for giving me their suffrage for the legislature on June 4. I am sensible of the fact that while I was not one of the successful candidates in the late contest, yet I feel thankful for the votes received, and especially so as they were voluntarily given. Very respectfully,

A. W. FARLINGER.
